

Don't forget to vote on Tuesday, Nov. 2

Polls open 7:00 a.m. and close at 8:00 p.m.

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - The final week before the 2010 midterm elections is drawing to a close and candidates are crisscrossing the state and districts to reach out to voters, particularly to independents, to win last minute support. The pollsters are calling, the pundits are predicting and town clerks are ready for Tuesday's election.

In Wilmington the ballot is full of contested races from Governor to Representative on Beacon Hill. This is the Crier's ballot synopsis.

Perhaps the most visible race in Massachusetts is the Gubernatorial contest, split among four candidates. Incumbent Democrat Governor Deval Patrick, running with Lt. Governor Tim Murray, is seeking reelection against three challengers, including former Harvard Pilgrim CEO and Republican candidate Charlie Baker and his running mate State Senator Richard Tisei. Current State Treasurer Tim Cahill is running as an independent for Governor, in a campaign that has been plagued of late by high-level defections, including his running mate, Paul Loscocco. Dr. Jill Stein is running under the Green-Rainbow party flag, with her candidate for Lt. Governor Rick Purcell.

Representative John Tierney, a Democrat running for his eighth term in the U.S. Congress, has met a strong challenge from Republican attorney Bill Hudak. Tierney's campaign was rocked by a recent guilty-plea from his wife, Patrice, on criminal charges for knowingly filing fraudulent tax returns for her brother. Tierney fought back, trying to paint Hudak as a kook with intentions to vote against seniors and the

New contract for Caira

6% raise 2011, retirement expected 2012

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Selectmen voted three to one, and with one abstaining, to extend Town Manager Michael Caira's contract through FY2012 with a six percent raise instituted in FY11. Board of Selectmen Chairman Lou Cimaglia, who is a town employee, recused himself from all discussions relative to the proposed contract for the town manager and abstained from the vote.

According to Selectman Michael Newhouse, Selectmen voted unanimously on June 8, 2009 to reappoint Caira for a three-year term beginning July 1, 2009. Contract negotiations then commenced to determine compensation. The only substantive change in the contract is the salary, rising from just over $132,000 to $140,000 in FY2011 and remaining there for FY2012. Like many employees in Wilmington and across the Commonwealth, Caira did not see a salary increase in FY2010.

"In arriving at a mutually acceptable salary, individual Board members considered a variety of factors, including job performance, the salaries of similarly situated Town Managers, the value of continuity, the relative costs of an alternative early retirement incentive, prospective replacement values, and the likelihood of continuing economic uncertainty, both at

Considering local meals tax

Big revenue on short money?

...or just another tax?

By JAYNE W. MILLER

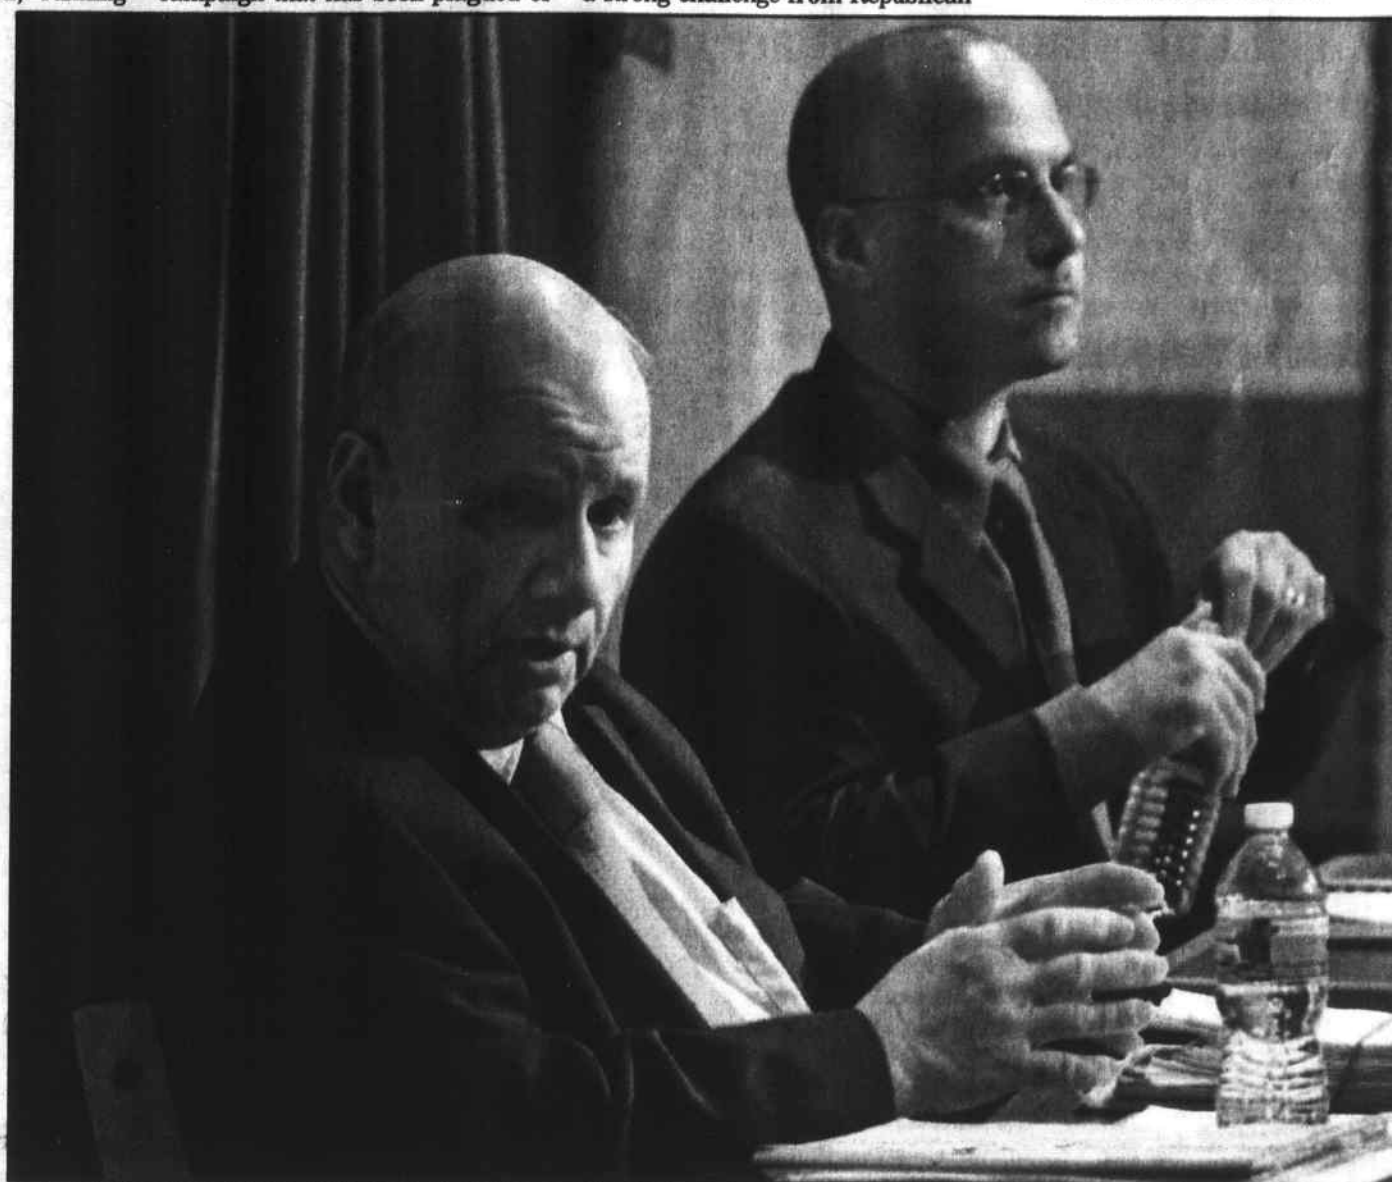

WILMINGTON - Wilmington Selectmen agreed to ask residents to consider a new local meals tax during next spring's Annual Town Meeting, seeking to reap an estimated $300,000 for fiscal year 2012. Not all Selectmen support the tax, but they agreed that the residents should have the opportunity to decide for themselves.

Selectman Michael Newhouse originally asked

Town Manager Michael Caira to investigate the local option meals tax in February 2010, with the intention to revisit it before the FY2012 budget process.

A local meals tax would be tagged on top of the existing 6.25 percent state meals tax, but revenue generated from the local meals tax would go directly to the municipality. According to a memo from Caira, the town could gener-

Miceli and Marchese square off

Town Crier-sponsored debate often combative, compelling throughout

By DANIEL R. CHALMERS

WILMINGTON - On October 21, James Miceli and Mario Marchese squared off in a debate sponsored by the Town Crier and held in the auditorium of the Wynn Middle School in Tewksbury. The two are contesting the seat for Middlesex County's 19th

Middlesex District in the Massachusetts State Legislature. Town Crier Editor Stephen Bjork moderated the debate. Four individuals from the local media - Tom Zuppa of the Lowell Sun, Jayne Miller of the Town Crier, Bill Gilman of Tewksbury Patch, and Mac

McEntire of the Advocate - were asked questions of the candidates.

Each candidate made a two-minute introductory statement to begin the debate.

In his opening, Miceli highlighted some of his accomplishments during his tenure on Beacon Hill. He noted his attainment of an appropriation for schools, as well as helping to pass a bill for library land in Tewksbury. He added that, as he travels through the towns, he sees many projects that he contributed to, such as working

Ballot questions address tax hikes and the future of 40B

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Residents have a chance with Tuesday's election to address three ballot questions that will directly impact their lives. Last year the legislature raised the sales tax in Massachusetts, from 5 percent up to 6.25 percent. A new sales tax was also levied on the sale of alcoholic beverages, on top of an existing excise tax. The only question not related to taxes will ask voters whether or not to repeal Chapter 40B, which pertains to comprehensive permitting for affordable housing.

Question 3, the subject of more rhetoric than the other ballot questions, proposes to roll back the sales tax to 3 percent. Opponents state that slashing the sales tax will cut revenue, and local aid to communities, by $2.5 billion. The effect, say opponents like the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation, would be 30 percent cuts to services across the board, including teachers, public safety, prisons, higher education and more. Ultimately, a low sales tax would put upward pressure on property taxes, contends the MTF.

Not true, say proponents of Question 3, like Carla Howell of the Alliance to Roll Back Taxes. Lowering the sales tax would reduce uncertainty in the market and help create thousands of new private sector jobs, and return an average of $688 to each taxpayer and over $900 to each family. Further, say supporters, passing Question 3 would force Beacon Hill to cut government waste while keeping more shoppers in Massachusetts instead of going to New Hampshire while simultaneously inviting shoppers from neighboring states with higher tax rates.

Howell rejects the argument to save Tewksbury Hospital. "That's one of our great resources," he said, "I've been very much involved," he added. Miceli also spoke of his never-efforts in constituent services.

Marchese began his introductory remarks by thanking Miceli for his service. He quickly shifted gears, however, saying that the present race was not about the past, but the future. He said that his foci were lower taxes, business, and, "jobs, real jobs." He added that education and "protecting our future" were also priorities. "We need a true independent voice on Beacon Hill," he said. He added that the votes he would make would not be based on party, but rather on what's best for the communities.

Marchese also noted that Miceli had supported previous speakers involved in corruption scandals, such as Thomas Finneran. Miceli responded, "I won't stake my reputation on anyone else's," and added he had a reputation of, "unimpeached integrity."

Tom Zuppa of the Lowell Sun asked what each candidate would do to stimulate job growth in the Commonwealth.

Marchese said that he would work on a bill to lower the corporate tax rate to 5 percent. He added that an increase in jobs would stimulate the housing market, and thereby boost the economy. He closed by saying that lower taxes and jobs were his "first priority."

Miceli, in his response, said that his efforts would center on providing incentives to companies to move to the area. He also noted that it was important that existing jobs remain in the area, and that they be filled by local residents. Additionally, Miceli recounted past efforts in helping businesses obtain loans, and assisting constituents who are out of work.

Jayne Miller of the Town Crier offered the next question, asking whether or not the candidates supported ballot questions one and three. Question one centers on repealing the alcohol sales tax, while three seeks to roll the state sales tax back to 3%.

Miceli spoke first, and said that he had voted against both of those tax increases in the past. He said, however, that it "would be a disaster" if the sales tax were rolled back to 3%. He added that he had no problem with 5%, but concluded that, if voters were to decide to reduce the sales tax, he had an obligation to support and uphold the vote.

Marchese said that the alcohol tax has been devastating to business. He said that when state government grows, legislators look to increase taxes. He, too, felt that a sales tax reduction to 3% would have a "devastating effect," particularly on local aid, but said that 5% would be sustainable and that it "made sense." He closed by saying that if the will of the people supported the measure, he would too.

Bill Gilman of Tewksbury Patch asked the candidates about their philosophy on balancing the collection of past due taxes with the challenges of a company remaining in business.

Marchese said that too much regulation has led businesses to leave, characterizing Massachusetts as "not a friendly place to do business." He added that there is currently too much red tape, remarking, "cut regulation. It's too much." Miceli said that regulations should be put in place to restrict how far into the past authorities could go to attempt to collect.

Mac McEntire of the Advocate, asked about ballot question two, repealing 40B, the state law regarding comprehensive permits for low- and moderate-income housing.

Miceli said, "I have fought very passionately" against 40B. He said that it should be repealed and replaced with a new, effective law, adding that towns have lost too much authority. He said he would also support creating a regional appeal board for developers to bring grievances. He added that current regulations are allowing small parcel owners to become millionaires. "Affordable is not really affordable for a lot of people," he said.

Marchese said that the state has an obligation to provide affordable housing. "There has not been enough oversight," he added. He said that, despite some abuse, he does not want anyone left out. New graduates, he remarked, can't afford to stay in the area. He stated that he would work to make sure that those who need assistance could get it.

Zuppa then asked the candidates on their views concerning casino gambling.

Marchese said that he opposes casino gambling, calling it "wrong for our culture." He said that the state needs manufacturing jobs, which he believes are more sustainable. He said the state should lower taxes, not its standards.

Miceli supports casino gambling, saying that their construction would create jobs and that every dollar is tight in the current economic situation. He added that, while the nature of the revenue they create is not ideal, it would be "absolutely foolhardy" not to build them. He added that he voted in favor of them in the past, and would do so again.

Miller then called for the candidates' views on "plan design" changes to health care plans for municipalities in Massachusetts.

Miceli said he would wait for the communities to make the first move, and then act. Marchese countered, "You're electing us to be leaders," and said that, while breaking current contracts would be unacceptable, when contracts are up all parties should be open to new ideas. He said that the unions do not fund such plans, but that people do.

When asked about their plans to help local schools, Miceli said that he had always made himself accessible, and that he would do what he has been doing.

Marchese said that schools are one of his priorities, and that he would address chapter 70 funding. "Education is our future," he said. He added that he supports both the new Tewksbury high school and a new high school in Wilmington. "I outright support new construction," he said.

In the next section of the debate, candidates asked questions directly of one another.

Marchese noted that gubernatorial candidate Charlie Baker had supported Marchese's campaign, but that Democrat Deval Patrick had not endorsed Miceli, and asked Miceli if he supported Patrick. Miceli noted that he has not sought Patrick's endorsement, and that he has been neutral with all candidates.

Miceli then asked why Marchese considers his time on Wilmington's Conservation Commission an accomplishment when, according to Miceli, Marchese had a poor attendance record. Marchese said that, on the commission, he fought hard for the town's wetlands and battled developers. He said that he was not paid, and that he was appointed to the position. Miceli then said to Marchese, "You're in more back pockets than a wallet."

Marchese then asked why Miceli, who is well known for presenting citations for a variety of events such as graduations and business openings, had never sent one to the Town of Wilmington for being such a well-managed town with cash surpluses while many surrounding towns are laying off employees and slashing budgets. Miceli countered that he would send one the very next day, and added, "If that's the only area I'm lacking in, I must be doing a pretty good job."

In another question, Marchese asked why Miceli, after 33 years of representation, had no leadership positions in the legislature. Miceli responded that he had chairmanships that were taken away when he voted against the party lines. Furthermore, he received offers, but had turned them down. He said that the respect that he looks for is from his family and back home, and not from Beacon

Hill.

Miceli challenged Marchese's resume and track record, with Marchese countering that he believes in term limits, and that he has over fifteen years of experience in financial services, and added that staying on budget is what he does for a living.

The candidates then delivered their closing statements, with Marchese speaking first.

He said that, for too long, the peoples' voice has been lost. He believes that people have had enough of what he called "the ineffective status quo," and that he was not afraid to fight. He said that he would bring "a real change, a real voice."

Miceli said he was proud of his 33 years of service, and that he has "always delivered." He added that he is still full of energy. "Give me your vote and confidence once more, and I will serve you as effectively as I have done in the past."

The election will be held on November 2.

It's Your Money

by Joyce Brisbois

WHAT A TRUST CAN DO

Many wealthy people have trust funds. But trusts can be utilized by people at almost any income level to help manage their money and how it is spent and by whom.

Trusts can be set up to help accomplish your financial goals. They may be utilized to control distribution of your estate over time, perhaps managing it until young heirs can do so themselves. A trust may manage your money if you or your heir is incapacitated. In some cases it can be used to reduce estate taxes at your death.

A trust is a separate legal entity that owns and manages assets for the good of the trust's beneficiaries. The individuals who set up the trust set the rules for it. There is no legal minimum for creating a trust, but the trustees may require a minimum.

The trust is generally managed by a trustee or trustees that you choose, whether a friend, relative or advisor or a corporate trustee such as a financial institution.

Being here and being there...

Here and there.

Here is Wilmington and Tewksbury.

There is the State House in Boston.

It's a fine line between spending time at home listening and responding to the local concerns and spending time in Boston making sure that Wilmington and Tewksbury get their fair share of funding.

Jim Miceli has consistently been able to do both.

At home, Jim has been lauded by elders, praised by special needs advocates, respected by educators, and warmly received by community leaders.

At the State House, Jim has been recognized for his advocacy of his district, his tough stance against taxes, his aggressiveness for our elders and children, and his development of an intern program for students anxious to learn about state government.

Letters to the editor

Trip of a lifetime

Dear Editor

The trip is over, the bags are unpacked, lost sleep regained. It's time to reflect on the "salute to veterans" and the trip to Washington D.C.

For some it provided closure, others it awakened memories of the past, some good and some bad.

But, to all the veterans that went it gave them a chance to bond with other veterans and form friendships that will be remembered.

I would be remiss if I did not take this opportunity to thank the many people who made this trip possible and successful.

To Lou Cimaglia, Wilmington's Veterans Agent, for his vision and idea for this trip, for his research on what the veterans in Walter Reed Hospital could use (iPods).

To Paul Cardello from WCTV for his contacts to support the "iPods for Veterans" the many calls and for delivering the iPods to the veterans at Walter Reed.

For the TV crew who seemed to be everywhere to record this trip and interviews - Thank You.

To the Silver Fox Bus Line, the owner Mr. Fox, to his driver, Denice, who had to put up with us veterans and giving us the time to see the various monuments.

To the Town of Wilmington and other towns whose veterans went on the trip

And a big Thank You to those who made donations that made this event such a success - Thank You all.

Tewksbury Hospital participates in National Health Care Quality week

TEWKSBURY - Tewksbury Hospital CEO Sandra Akers MSN, RN, SPHR, announces that on October 19, 2010, healthcare quality professionals at Tewksbury Hospital joined those around the nation in celebrating National Healthcare Quality Week, October 17-23, 2010. The week highlighted the influence of healthcare quality professionals in achieving improved patient care outcomes and healthcare delivery systems.

"I am continually impressed by the creativity and expertise of Tewksbury Hospital employees," stated Akers. "In planning and producing 'The Power of Three,' the staff's health care knowledge, ingenuity and team effort was outstanding. Not only was it a successful educational event but it was fun for all involved."

All Tewksbury Hospital departments were invited by Quality Management to create a three word health care motto to be displayed and filmed about a departmental initiative related to quality. The "Your Three Words" theme was borrowed from a segment that Good Morning America frequently uses. Sixty staff members participated creating their own three words motto which reflected a health care standard. Over the last few weeks, these individuals with their "Three Words" were video taped in a variety of settings and a film produced. This film, "The Power of Three," held its World Premiere on October 19.

Departments were very creative and used props such as beach balls and surf boards to display their three words. Awards, also known as the THEmmys (Tewksbury Hospital Emmys) were given out in the five categories: Best Use of Materials, Most Inspiring Three Words, Most Creative Three Words, Funniest Three Words, and Best Overall Three Word Video. The movie premiere was a huge success and enjoyed by all who attended.

THEmmy winners were as follows:

Best Use of Materials - "Operation Wipe Out" pro-

Most Inspiring - Dietary Staff led by Siva Panchamoorthy "Everybody Loves Food," "Food Fuels Life," "Dieticians Know Food," "To Eat Right," "See Your Dietician"

Most Creative/Innovative - "Save Our Skin" (S.O.S.) by Karen Hartley

Funniest - "Always Try Rebooting" by Bill Fallon and Peter Honyotski

Best Overall - "Protect Patient Privacy" by the HIS Department led by Patricia Eskandar

Medicare Open Enrollment

It's time to review your plan

WASHINGTON, DC - Every year, there are new prescription drug and health plan coverage choices available to people with Medicare. Open Enrollment is the time of year when current or newly-eligible Medicare beneficiaries, including people with original Medicare, can review their current health or prescription drug plans, compare the plans to other options, and choose the plans that best meet their current needs.

There's never been a better time to check out Medicare coverage. With the new health care law, there are new benefits available to people with Medicare, including lower prescription costs, wellness checks and preventive care. The new law also provides better ways to protect beneficiaries from fraud, making Medicare stronger for all of us and for future generations.

Take advantage of Open Enrollment—November 15th through December 31st—and be sure to compare current plans with new plan offerings, as well as learn about the new benefits that are available. People with Medicare may find a way to save money, get better coverage, or both.

Medicare has several ways to ensure people get the information to help in deciding what kind of coverage works best, including:

- Visit www.medicare.gov, where you can get a personalized comparison of the costs and coverage of the plans available in your area.

- Call 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227) 24-hours a day/7 days a week to find out more about your coverage options. TTY users should call 1-877-486-2048.

- Review the 2011 Medicare & You handbook. It is mailed to beneficiaries in October.

- Get one-on-one help from your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP). Local SHIP contact information can be found online at www.medicare.gov/contacts/staticpages/ships.aspx. Shawsheen Tech auctioning championship banners Own a piece of history!

BILLERICA - Shawsheen Tech currently has over 160 championship banners earned between 1973 and 2009. In 2010, the school purchased new banners. These banners are impressive and beautifully decorate the gymnasium. Instead of letting the older banners sit in a closet, we would like to offer you the chance to make one of these banners YOURS!

The Shawsheen Valley Technical High School and its Alumni Association are collaborating to raise funds that will help defer costs from the purchase of the new banners; and to support the Alumni Association's efforts with scholarships and is upcoming Hall of Fame.

The banners will be displayed for silent auction bids in the gymnasium on Homecoming Day on Saturday, October 2nd between 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. Come check them out and stay for the football game!

On-line bidding and a complete list of available banners will begin on October 3rd through November 7th at www.biddingforgood.com/shawtechbanners.

For more information, please contact Robin Sgroso, Chair of the Shawsheen Tech Alumni Association at SVTH-SAA@gmail.com.

Tewksbury Library Notes

Festival of Trees in the works

The leaves are starting to turn in our part of the world. The beautiful reds, golds, and browns in our neighborhoods remind us to enjoy these sunny and cool days and prepare for winter. Here at the Tewksbury Public Library, fall reminds us that it's time to plan for our annual Festival of Trees!

This will be my first Festival of Trees and I'm very excited to see the Library decked out with great trees prepared by our friends and neighbors. If you're like me and haven't participated in the past here are the details.

Individuals, organizations and businesses are welcome to join in the holiday spirit by decorating an artificial tree for display at the Library during the month of December. The tree can be any size from tabletop on up! The theme of your tree is up to you, but please don't plan to use lights or electric ornaments. Trees will be on display throughout the Library for viewing any time the Library is open.

This community celebration of the holiday season is a great way to show your civic pride and decorating skills. Each tree will include a label noting the person, organization or business who decorated it. This year we will hold three popular votes for the decorating. Each person visiting the Library will be encouraged to view the trees and vote for the following: People's Choice, Children's Choice and Best Themed.

In addition to displaying the trees, Library staff members and Friends of the Library are planning events for all ages to enjoy during the month of December. One that we're quite excited about is a Festival of Trees Scavenger Hunt for children. Children can participate anytime the Library is open and those who find the clues will earn a prize. Other events will include a family concert and special crafts and story times. More details will be coming in the next few weeks.

If you want to participate, please send me an email (dgiarrusso@tewksbury-ma.gov) with your contact information so I can get more details out to you. I hope you'll consider participating this year. It won't be the same without you!

Let's Hear it!!

In reference to Mr. Kavanaugh's letter of last week: look up the definition of Socialism and then when you are prepared to give up your public education, social security, and medicare, (all of which fit the definition), you can lecture us on the evils of whatever you seem to think socialistic goals are and how this country would be much better off without any of those things.

Wilmington

Kudos to the Boy Scouts of Troop 56 for a great job cleaning up and raking the grounds at the Knights of Columbus and the Congregational Church last weekend! Heck of a job boys!

Wilmington

Thanks to Krochmal CAFO (confined animal feeding operation) for ruining our weekend again by dumping their pig waste in the woods. You know that horrible odor you smelled in North Wilmington last weekend while trying to rake leaves? You have to call the health dept. (978-658-4298) or track it at <http://www.tewksburyodor.org/track.asp> or the Cave family will be allowed to do this to us for as long as they want.

Wilmington

Two Thumbs Down to the Wilmington Little League. This past week was the draft for the Majors baseball for the 9, 10 & 11 year old boys. I guess in this small town atmosphere it's still Who You Know not How Well Your Son Plays...what a shame.

Mary Renn and Pat LeBourdais worked for over a year on the "Grandmother's Flower Garden" quilt that was raffled at the 22nd Annual Quilt Show this weekend. Many members of the Tewksbury Piecemakers assisted in making different sections of the quilt, but Mary and Pat were responsible for putting it all together.

Bus Safety with Wilmington Safety Officer Brian Moon

Wilmington's Safety Officer Brian Moon spoke to the kids at the Woburn Street School about Bus Safety last Wednesday. The major points he hit on - and which should be reinforced by parents - was:

1. Get to the bus stop early.
2. Never run to or from the bus.
3. Stand back away from the street while waiting for the bus.
4. Don't push or shove while getting on or off the bus.
5. Stay in your seat.
6. Don't yell or shout.
7. The bus driver is in charge. Always obey the bus driver.
8. When you get off the bus, wait for the drivers signal before crossing the street in front of the bus.
9. When you do cross the street in front of the bus, make sure you are at least 10 giant steps in front of the bus.
10. Never go under the bus, in front or behind, to get anything.

These beautifully crafted pewter ornaments normally sell for $10 a piece, but a lucky bidder may just find a good deal on this lot. The Rotary Auction is a fun night for a great cause. All proceeds go toward scholarships and charitable efforts undertaken by Wilmington Rotary.

Wilm. Rec has seats for Vienna Boys Choir At Lowell Auditorium

WILMINGTON - The Vienna Boys Choir began in 1498 to perform music for the pleasure of Emperor Maximilian I and his court. Until 1918 the choir sang exclusively for the court, at mass, at private concerts and on state occasions. Today there are approximately 100 choristers between the ages of ten and fourteen, divided into four touring choirs. The four choirs perform about 300 concerts each year and tour Europe, Asia, Australia and the Americas.

This year as part of the middle class. A particularly vitriolic advertisement from the Tierney campaign has recently been challenged in court by the Hudak campaign when it filed an injunction earlier this week. The matter was heard in court Tuesday.

The Treasurer race, to replace Tim Cahill, has also received more publicity in the last weeks of the campaign. Karyn Polito, a Republican member of the Massachusetts state house representing Shrewsbury and Westborough, is taking on Steven Grossman, a Democrat businessman of Somerville.

The most visible local race is for Representative in General Court representing the 19th Middlesex District. Incumbent Representative James Miceli, a Democrat, has served over thirty years in his office and is challenged by Republican Mario Marchese who currently holds a seat on the Wilmington School Committee. This race applies in Precincts 1, 2, 4 to 6.

In the race for Attorney General, Democrat incumbent Martha Coakley faces a challenge from Republican Jim McKenna, a write in candidate during the primary. Coakley has served as Attorney General for one term, having been elected in the 2006 general election.

The Auditor race has three candidates vying to replace the outgoing Joseph DeNucci: Mary Z. Connaughton, a Republican CPA, Democrat attorney Suzanne Bump, and a Physics Professor Nathanael Fortune from the Green Rainbow party.

The last state contested race, also a three-way race, is for Secretary of State. Incumbent Democrat William Galvin, in office since 1994, faces challenges from William C. Campbell, a Republican and Woburn City Clerk, and James Henderson, an independent attorney.

The last local uncontested race is for Middlesex Sheriff include Democrat incumbent James V. DiPaola versus independent Michael S. Tranchita, Sr.

Unopposed races in Wilmington include Councilor for the fifth district, Democrat Mary-Ellen Manning, Senator in General Court, Republican Bruce E. Tarr, District Attorney Gerard T. Leone, Jr. and Representative in General Court for the 3rd Precinct, Charles Murphy.

Ballot questions that local aid is the first place that ought to be cut should the measure pass. The state budgets roughly $29 Billion, but spends $52 Billion total, about $23 billion in "off budget" spending. Rolling back the tax rate, contends Howell, would reduce $2.34 billion out of $52 billion in total state spending.

Question 1, the other tax-related question, would eliminate the sales tax on beer, wine, and liquor. With an existing excise tax, the recently added sales tax, to proponents, adds insult to injury. Previously liquor sold in stores was exempt from sales tax, but when the legislature raised the tax rate it also cut the exemption. As predicted by many Merrimack Valley politicians, the tax has just pushed liquor sales over the border to tax-free New Hampshire.

Rolling back this tax will eliminate $100 million in revenue, according to the Department of Revenue, and opponents contend that alcohol does not deserve a special tax break.

Question 2 seeks to repeal Chapter 40B, which allows a streamlined path for developers to obtain a comprehensive permit from local Zoning Boards of Appeal (ZBA) rather than multiple permits from multiple agencies as long as the project will provide affordable housing. Through this process, developers can avoid local zoning density limits as long as some units are allocated for moderate-income residents.

For ownership properties, 25 percent of the units must be set-aside for moderate-income residents. Communities can reject projects, but only if the town has at least 10 percent of its housing stock deemed "affordable." Towns and Cities that make significant progress in a year can also earn the right to refuse a comprehensive permit.

Proponents of the question believe that 40B does not work well and does not really create affordable housing simply because for four ownership units built and sold, three are expensive, market-rate condos and only one is actually considered affordable.

"That's right, our current affordable housing system uses taxpayer dollars to build primarily market-rate homes," wrote proponents AffordableHousingNow.org. Opponents of Question 2 believe that a repeal would jeopardize much needed affordable housing in a state that is so expensive.

These three questions will appear on the ballot for the November 2 election. Polls open at 7:00 a.m. and close at 8:00 p.m.

Parents get a firsthand look at technology education

WILMINGTON - Monday night at Wilmington Middle School, parents of fourth and fifth grade students were given the opportunity to find out what their children are learning in the area of technology in their classrooms.

More than 25 parents registered for Renzulli Parent Night, a program put on by Wilmington Public Schools and facilitated on Monday evening by Lisa Ippolito, Dennis Shaw and Frank Ferriero. Ippolito is the Elementary Technology Integration Specialist for Wilmington Public Schools, while Shaw is the Principal of the West Intermediate School and Ferriero is the Principal of the North Intermediate School.

Parents who attended were treated to a night of hands-on training in which they were able to experience the same type of learning their children are experiencing. It was a training session that Wilmington Public Schools was eager to provide for the parents of Wilmington school children.

"We wanted to help parents support their children by showing them the technology programs their children are using at school," Ippolito said. "Having parents understand the program will be beneficial to both them and to their children."

Renzulli is an on-line program that matches students' interests and learning styles to many different opportunities designed to provide enriched, challenging learning. Students complete a profile when they start the program and Renzulli creates a program specifically for each student based on their learning style, ability level and areas of interest.

The program was piloted last year at the fourth grade level through a grant and, due to its success at that level, has been implemented this year throughout the fourth and fifth grades in Wilmington Public Schools.

Ippolito and her co-facilitators felt that the parents who attended Monday night enjoyed using the program just as much as their children have.

"The parents were very excited to not only see what their children are doing, but to find out what the whole program had to offer," Ippolito said. "The program can take their children all over the world through the use of their computer. It was a great night for parents to find out more about the technology available to their children."

Parents in fact, were able to register for Renzulli themselves so they will now be able to view their child's profile, assignments and projects, providing them a better opportunity to assist their child.

Technology is growing every day and Wilmington Public Schools is using it to improve and support their students' education. Programs like the one held on Monday night enable parents to see just what the use of technology can mean for their children in the 21st century.

Renzulli is just one of the exciting programs being used by Wilmington students. Study Island is another; and there will be a presentation on the Study Island program for parents on November 10, once again held at the Wilmington Middle School computer lab. Parents are encouraged to register for the Study Island Parent Night at the Wilmington Public Schools web site at <http://www.wilmington.k12.ma.us/>. It should be another exciting and informative night of learning, so parents are encouraged to register early as space is limited.

Other technology trainings, including some specializing in math will be offered throughout the school year.

Yoga For Dummies

A Tewksbury Public Library event

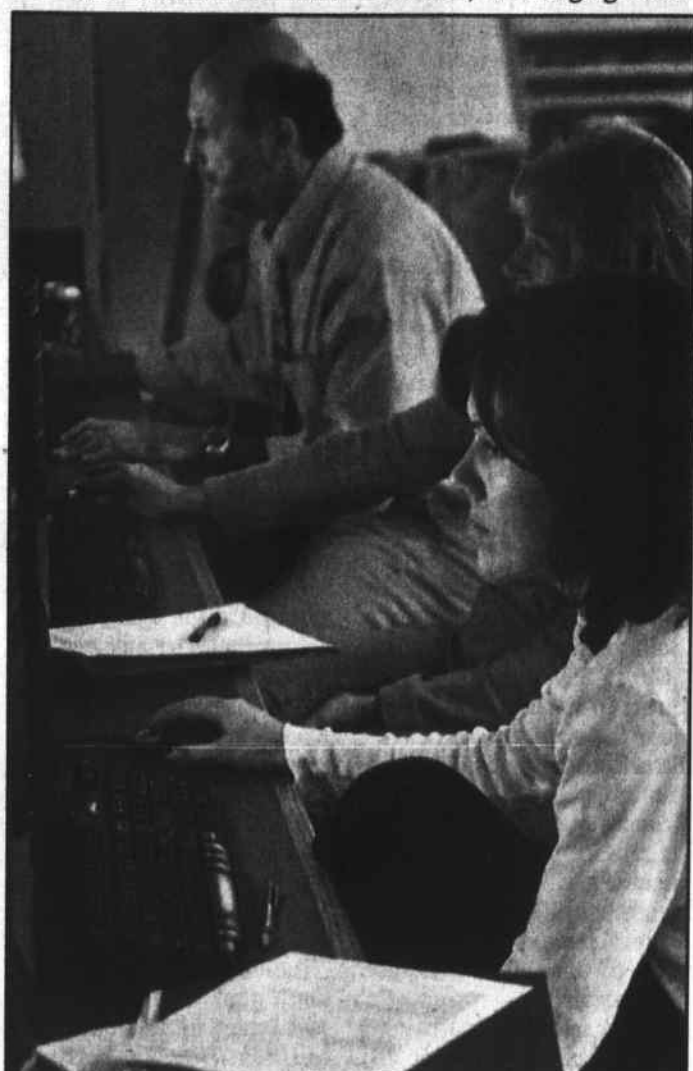

TEWKSBURY - Ever wanted to learn yoga? What better place to learn something than at the library! On Saturday, November 6 at 2 p.m., join fellow yoga novices for a one-hour yoga class for beginners taught by the library's very own Amy Martin.

Amy Martin - a registered yoga teacher - teaches classes at Robin's Yoga & Healing Center in Tewksbury and for the Tewksbury Public Schools Community Services Adult Education Division. Amy first discovered yoga as a teenager and has continued to practice yoga for more than 20 years, mainly influenced by the traditions of Hatha and Iyengar yoga.

Doors open at 1:45 p.m. The class begins at 2 p.m. sharp. This is a drop-in event for adults - both men and women. (No registration or tickets are required.) Space is limited to 20 participants. First come, first serve. Participants should wear loose, comfortable clothing. Participants should also bring a yoga mat or towel to practice on as there will be limited yoga mats available. Bottles of water will be provided.

This event is FREE thanks to the generosity of the Friends of the Tewksbury Public Library. The Friends of the Tewksbury Public Library's Friendly Little Bookshop will be open before and after the event.

Illuminated by the glow of the computer monitors, (front to back) Jennifer Pietropaolo, Diane Garrity and North Intermediate Principal Frank Ferriero perform a task on the Renzulli Learning System.

From Film Movement Series website, "Adam, a vicious neo-Nazi anxiously biding his time before he can return to hell-raising, is sentenced to community service at a small church in the countryside. Asked to set a goal for his stay, Adam sarcastically answers that he'd like to bake a pie. His supervisor, Ivan the priest, cheerfully takes that statement at face value and puts him in charge of the parish's pride and joy: the only apple tree in the vicinity. Grasping the extent of Ivan's crazed, preternatural determination to look on the bright side of everything, Adam immediately decides to shake him out of his rose-colored stupor." Check the library's web site www.wilm-library.org for other titles in the series.

Ninth Festival of Trees

Save the dates December 4, 5

READING - Now in its ninth year, Reading's popular Festival of Trees event returns December 4 and 5 at Parker Middle School, 45 Temple Street, Reading.

Sponsored by the Reading Technology and Education Foundation, Inc. (RTEF), this important fundraising event not only spreads a little holiday cheer, but also is the RTEF's major fundraiser, supporting Reading's teachers, by funding teacher initiated technology grants. We received $52,000 in grant requests from Reading's teachers last December, and due to fund constraints, were only able to fund a portion of that amount. Please help us reward our teachers' initiative and raise as much money as we can!

Everyone will enjoy seeing the beautifully decorated, themed trees. Buy a raffle ticket (or many!) and you could be taking home a tree, already decorated! Kids can decorate cookies and listen to some wonderful stories.

Trees are generously donated by local residents, organizations, neighborhoods and businesses. If you are interested in donating a tree or an item for our silent auction, or volunteering, please contact Debbie Boschetti at rtef@reading.k12.ma.us.

More than 200 people took advantage of clear skies and warmish weather Saturday midnight to hike in Harold Parker State Forest. It was a Full Moon hike in celebration of the Hunter Full Moon, which occurs when the October full moon lands late in the month. They had a fire, made hot chocolate and talked a bit about the significance of the full moon to Native Americans, then walked probably about 1.5 miles around the end of Stearn's Pond and back, mostly by moonlight. "It was great" said Barbara Buls. "We had 220 people in attendance and thus was a much different program than first expected. Everyone had fun and the weather was perfect - nice and quiet, so not too cool."

New contract for Cairra

the local and state levels of government."

The Board compared Wilmington's Town Manager salary to neighboring towns such as Tewksbury, Billerica, Chelmsford, Andover, Acton, Reading, and more, with an average salary for FY10 of $140,637.

Therefore Wilmington will pay the Town Manager slightly less next year than what many of his colleagues were paid for in the previous fiscal year. Tewksbury's Town Manager, for instance, is currently making $148,000.

Further, Newhouse explained that Cairra is expected to retire sometime during the second half of calendar year 2012.

According to Newhouse, the board's "collective and unanimous" opinion is that Cairra has performed "exceptionally well" during his time in Wilmington, and especially considering the challenging economic climate towns face today.

"Furthermore the proposed agreement demonstrates the Board's commitment to maintain the highest level of administrative professionalism and leadership, which have elevated Wilmington's status to the "best affordable town" in Massachusetts.

Selectmen Mike Champoux, Ray Lepore, and Michael Newhouse voted in favor of the raise. Selectman Michael McCoy voted against the measure saying that while he supports the Town Manager, and indeed had voted to reappoint Cairra as such, he could not support the pay raise.

The raise is just less than 6% for the Town Manager, or just under $8,000.

"I feel like the residents of the Town of Wilmington got a big bang for their buck," said Champoux. "I am very delighted he did not exercise his option to retire early. We're getting A-1 service from Mr. Cairra, who is now in the average ranking [for salary], and I would submit that he's way beyond an average town manager."

"I'd rather pay someone to come to work rather than pay him to stay home," said Newhouse, referring to Cairra not taking the early retirement incentive.

McCoy stated, and other selectmen echoed, that the tenor of the discussions was civil and professional.

Cairra has served over twenty-one years as Wilmington's Town Manager.

Six-month old, Alexander, dressed as a penguin, had the opportunity to enjoy his first Horribles Parade with his parents, Stephanie and Kevin Degnan and older brother, Nicholas.

ate an estimated $300,000 with a .75 percent tax on meals sold within the town. According to the Department of Revenue 116 communities have signed onto the meals tax.

The town researched bordering towns, and towns that about those neighbors, as to whether the meals tax was adopted. Only two of the seven directly abutting towns - Billerica and Tewksbury - have not adopted the meals tax. Billerica stands to gain an estimated $391,000 and Tewksbury $484,000.

Of the 15 remaining communities looked at, seven have not adopted the tax including Carlisle, Dracut, Lynnfield, Methuen, Middleton, North Andover, and Winchester.

Reading, Woburn, Lawrence, Lowell and Stoneham have all adopted the option recently with it going into effect either July 1 or October 1.

Newhouse commented that this, "is not the kind of tax that can be imposed on residents but that the residents vote for..."

The measure will go before Town Meeting next spring and then it will be in the voters' hands.

Newhouse was initially against the tax but has been swayed in recent months talking to more people about the kind of revenue the tax can generate with limited impact to individuals.

On a $10 restaurant bill, the tax would be .07 cents. On a $100 bill, this tax would be just .75 cents.

Newhouse, and Chairman Lou Cimaglia, both recognized that the daytime population of Wilmington increases by 18,000 people, so non-residents would pay some of the tax.

Newhouse was also concerned about the impact to small businesses, and whether they would lose customers. He conceded to a friend when pressed though, that he did not notice a local meals tax on restaurants in other towns he visits.

He acknowledged that people are hurting financially now and just the term 'tax' is enough to raise people's ire, but he wants to go before the people in the spring to decide on their own.

Selectman Michael McCoy does not support the tax but he agreed that the people should be able to vote on it themselves.

Likewise, Selectman Mike Champoux stated he was in favor of bringing it to the voters, though he railed against the tax.

"How many more taxes can we throw on people? At the state level they had a chance to look at the way they spend and instead they give us a way to increase taxes on our citizens," said Champoux.

"We need to stop the government from putting their hands into our pocket, even if it is just for .75 on a $100 bill."

Newhouse responded that he hears from constituents about being 'nickel and dined' to death while others say that they are okay with the tax, that they understand that things cost money, but that they are not happy with the way money is squandered.

The money generated from the meals tax would be deposited into the general fund. The law, if passed, would not go into effect until the first day of the next calendar quarter provided that the date is at least 30 days after the vote to accept.

Cairra will start to put this on his agenda for next spring, but will not count projected revenues as part of his budget as he begins developing it this year.

Joshua Dangelo, Thing 1 from The Cat in the Hat, was not afraid of his big brother, Nicholas Skeirik during the Horribles Parade in Wilmington on Sunday.

Andy Owens nets the big 3-0

Wilmington High senior striker Andy Owens leads the boys soccer team with 13 goals, giving him 30 over the past 36 games. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Senior striker scores six goals this week

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Since the start of last season, the Wilmington High School Boys Soccer team has a combined record of 27-3-6. In those 36 games, senior tri-captain Andy Owens has a combined 30 goals, netting 17 last year as a junior and today is leading the team with 13 tallies, including seven in the past four games. Thus it's no secret that Owens is a player and a scorer, it's just a matter of getting his motor going on a consistent level.

"That's the way he is - he's very streaky and he can explode with some goals," said head coach Steve Scanlon after Monday's 4-2 win over Triton Regional at home which saw Owens score the team's first and fourth goals. "But he's got some great skills, great speed and he has that unteachable scoring knack. He's a kid who goes to the goal, he has a good shot and he can get streaky on you like he did in last year's tournament where I think he scored every single one of our goals. When he's honed in, he's dangerous."

Owens has that graceful natural ability on the soccer field. He has power with his kicks and his passes and most especially his shots. He has the finesse moves, the ability easily go around a defender and slide a pass across to a teammate or even strike a hard blast just to the left of the goalie and into that small open space before the post. And he has the talent to do something in the sport of soccer.

"Personally I think this is his game and I think he can play at the college level in soccer," said Scanlon. "My suggestion is for him to go to a prep-school first but we'll see what happens."

Until that decision comes, Owens will try to help the Wildcats make another deep run in the state tournament. Last year he finished the regular season with 14 goals, and went on to score all three of the team's tournament goals in their wins over Wayland, Winchester and North Andover before Concord-Carlisle eliminated the 'Cats in the team's first appearance in the Division 2 North sectional final since 1998.

This year he is doing his part, more so lately. He scored the game winning goal in the 3-2 win over Hamilton-Wenham eight days ago. He then scored the only goal in the team's 2-1 loss against Masconomet, but came back very strong to net all three goals in the 3-0 win over Ipswich, before grabbing two more goals in the win over Triton on Monday night, giving him 13 goals for the season.

"Thirty goals since last year is pretty impressive," said Scanlon.

Indeed it is. But perhaps he could have even more?

"When's he is unfocused he's sometimes not that good," said Scanlon. "When his concentration level is not where it should be, he sometimes has tame games. There's been several times where I'm just about done and I'm about to pull him out, he explodes through a defense and scores. And when he gets one, his work rate comes right up and he's hungry to score again. A good striker has an ego that way of wanting to score more and he is like that."

Owens made sure he buried his offensive chances on Monday. Triton took a quick 1-0 lead before Owens went to work - well as he described it as an easy day at the office.

"The first (goal) was a cross-in and (teammate Dave) Sugrue took a shot and the (goalie) missed it and I was there to tap it in," said

Owens.

Wilmington then scored the game's next two goals as Owens assisted on the team's second tally as Phil Lentini knocked home a rebound off the foot of Owens, before Drew Foley sailed a long shot from 35 yards out into the back of the net making it 3-1.

"It was a lot of work getting back after we were down but our offense was pretty good against their defense, so we were able to get a couple of goals in the net and get a couple of good shots," he said.

Triton was able to crawl back into the game scoring a goal with eight minutes left in the half making it 3-2 at the break. Owens and Wilmington then put the game away with 14 minutes left as he came streaking down the right wing side and as he squared up to the goalie, who rifled a hard shot that went off the goalie's hands and into the net.

"I was able to get around the defender and you could see the goalie trying to shift over playing the pass, so I just shot it to the other side," Owens recalled.

That goal and his strong performance over the week has helped the Wildcats improve their record to 9-2-3 overall, while the team had already qualified for the state tournament once again. But nine wins thus far is certainly a surprise to everyone considering how much talent was lost from last year's team, and how many injuries this team has gone through thus far.

"With the injuries and a lot of underclassmen and new kids that we have brought up from JV, I am surprised that we are actually doing this good," he said. "I just think as the season keeps going along, we are getting better as a team."

Patrice Mendoza Day to be held November 6

On Monday night, the Wilmington Board of Selectmen unanimously voted that Saturday, November 6th be "Patrice Mendoza Day" in Wilmington.

That evening, Mendoza will be inducted into the University of Lowell's Athletic Hall of Fame at the Tsongas Arena at 7:00 pm prior to the men's hockey game against New Hampshire.

In Mendoza's first two years, the UMass Lowell field hockey team posted consecutive records of 7-12. By her senior year, it was contending for the NCAA Championship.

Perhaps the best goalkeeper in UMass Lowell field hockey history, Mendoza was one of handful of athletes who were instrumental in elevating the program to national prominence, a standing which it has maintained to date.

After a 9-9 record and its first postseason bid in years, UMass Lowell peaked over the second half of the 2003 season and captured the first of five straight Northeast-10 Conference Tournament championships and advanced to the NCAA Championship match against 11-time titlist Bloomsburg University, despite falling 4-1.

Mendoza put forth her best numbers her junior and senior years. As a junior, she maintained a 1.21 goals against average with an .866 save rate and seven shutouts - very telling figures considering the River Hawks finish 9-9.

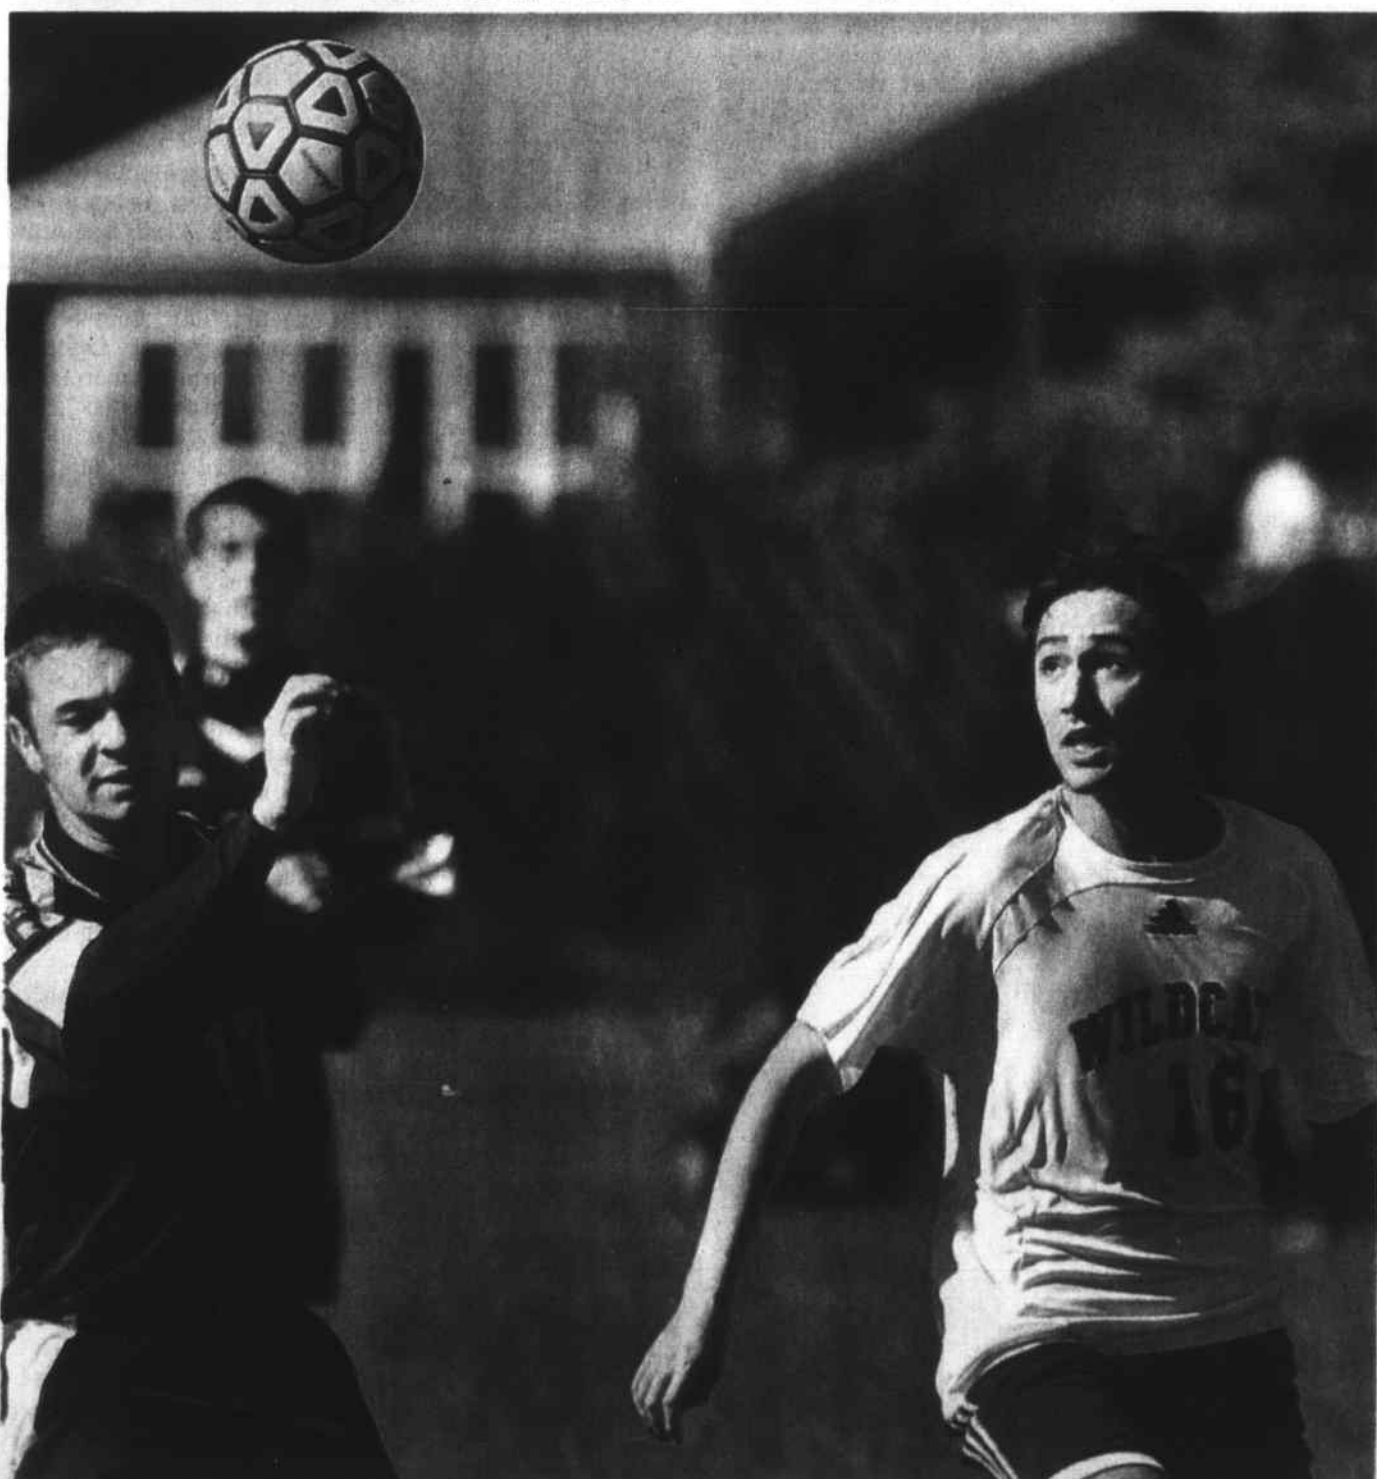

As a senior, she nursed a 1.12 GAA and an .832 save percentage with a school-record nine shutouts as UMass Lowell went 15-7. She remains prominent in the record books, holding benchmarks for matches in a career (77) and shutouts in a career (26) and a season (nine).

Mendoza was also the recipient of many plaudits during her career. She was named a two-time All-American by the National Field Hockey Coaches Association (NFCA), earning first team honors as a senior and second team as a junior. She was also named the NE-10 Goalkeeper of the Year and first team member both years.

At UMass Lowell's 2003 Excellence Awards Banquet, she was named the recipient of the Lester H. Cushing Award for Female Athlete of the Year.

Mendoza graduated in 2003 with a degree in health education. A native of Wilmington, Mass., she is currently the operations and merchandise manager of Bed, Bath & Beyond in Phoenix, AZ, where she resides.

Tickets cost $30 per person and can be purchased at the Athletic Business Office in the Costello Athletic Center; or by calling 978-934-2345. More information on the Athletic Hall of Fame is available at www.goriverhawks.com.

Boys Soccer team enjoys 9th win

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Starving off a ton of injuries, the Wilmington High School Boys Soccer team went 2-1 this past week posting victories over Ipswich and Triton Regional, which came after falling to rival Masconomet last Thursday night. The two wins pushes the team's record to 9-2-3 overall, meaning the Wildcats qualified for the Division 2 North sectional tournament for the sixth straight year and for the 10th time in the 11 years Steve Scanlon has been behind the bench.

Already the team has lost defenders Gott Seanchandi and Kory McGilvary for the season, and it looks as if Shayne Kinsella will miss more time, if not the rest of the season. On Monday night, the team was also without tri-captain Nick Godzyk, while other players were also on crutches or out of action with various injuries. Despite all of that, including a complete makeshift in the team's defense, the Wildcats are rolling to another successful season with hopes of making another late season regular and post season run.

"This was definitely not (the best win) but under the circumstances we'll take it," said Scanlon. "Where we have everyone banged up, a win is a win."

After defeating Hamilton-Wenham 3-2 last Tuesday, the team's six game unbeaten streak came to a halt with a 2-1 loss to Masco, a game in which Wilmington had countless number of scoring chances, especially early on.

"We should have been up 2-0 - I couldn't believe the amount of chances we had and we didn't cash them in," said Scanlon.

Despite falling to Masco, Wilmington certainly played them very tough. Andy Owens scored the only goal, while netminder John Malone made ten saves, while he was helped out by strong performances by Cam Garrant, Kinsella and Chris DiCecca.

"DiCecca has really been playing well controlling the middle of the field for us," said Scanlon. "He's really been having an excellent season for us."

After falling for just the second time this season, Wilmington came back to thump Ipswich, 3-0 and then Triton Regional 4-2 at home under the lights on Monday. "They have been a gritty team and I can say that about them," said Scanlon. "We don't role people but we play pretty good defense and we have enough dangerous players to give you a tough time. One thing about this team so far is they have been a gritty team. Besides the North Reading horror, we haven't been outclassed at all. We have been in everything and we're piecing it together."

In the 3-2 win over HW last Tuesday, Owens scored the game winner with 12 minutes to go with assists going to Godzyk and Cody O'Connor. Wilmington trailed 1-0 before Dave Sugrue tied the game up scoring his first goal of the season on a helper by Godzyk who then scored his own goal six minutes later making it 2-1.

After the Generals tied the game, Owens scored the game winner drilling a shot from just inside the box to the top right corner for the win. Owens and Kinsella assisted on the Godzyk tally, while Malone made six saves. Scanlon pinpointed to midfielders Zach Anderson and Drew Foley also playing well.

Owens scored all three goals in the win over Ipswich, with Sugrue adding two assists and Phil Lentini and Godzyk helping out with one each. Striker Dan Vigneau and senior middle Drew Cummings also played well for Wilmington. John Malone, Luke Foley and James Donovan combined for the team's sixth shut out of the season.

Then on Monday, Owens scored two goals and added an assist, while, Lentini and Drew Foley added the other goals. Malone made six saves to earn the win.

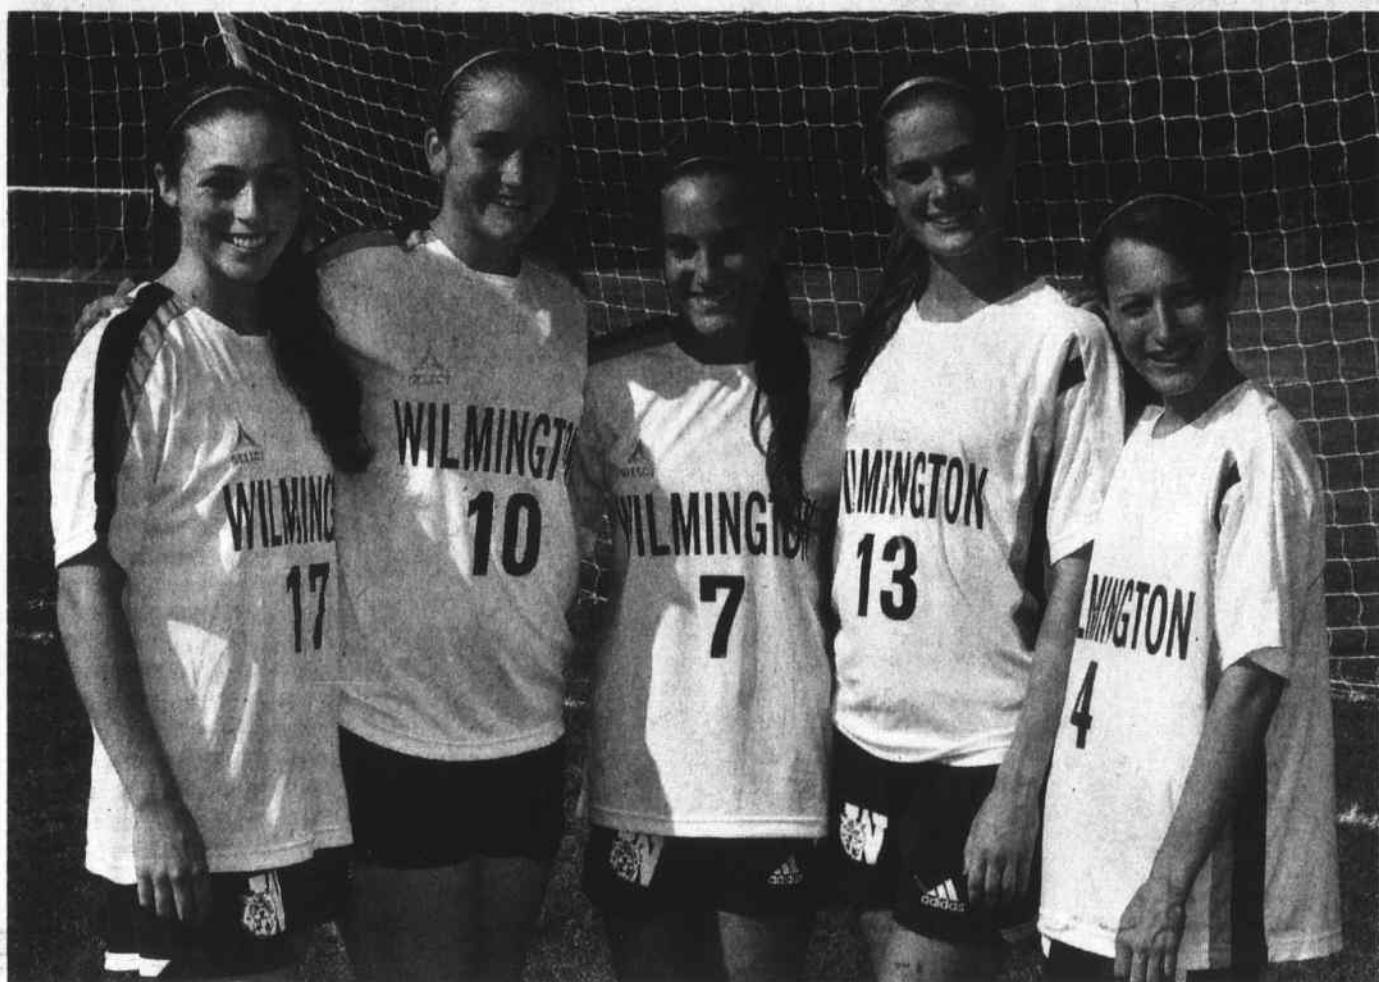

Wilmington is back in action with four games in six days to complete the regular season. The Wildcats traveled to Amesbury on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime, Billerica for a Saturday matinee at noon, Georgetown on Monday for a make-up game before coming home to face Tewksbury Tuesday night at 6:00 pm.

League Tri-Meet with Masconomet and Pentucket taking the bus ride over.

"It was a bit chaotic but it was a good day to run," said Wildcat head coach Tom Bradley. "There with a lot of great individual results, but unfortunately no team victories."

On the boys side, the Wildcats were defeated by both teams, falling to Masco 18-41 and Pentucket 23-38 bringing the team's record to 1-8 on the season.

Steve Halas finished first for Wilmington which was good enough to be the best in the entire race against Pentucket but third against Masco. He came across with a personal best time of 17:36. "He looked strong and relaxed," said Bradley.

Finishing just two seconds behind Halas was Zach Sears at 18:19. He was followed by Andrew Sears, his younger brother at 20:01, Jake Russo at 20:02 and Linden Hayes at 20:17.

"It was another personal record for Linden," said Bradley. "He has continued his hot streak and he's been the most improved runner on the boys team this year."

Andrew LaRosa (20:37), Chris Monteforte (20:57) as well as Mike Ferrera, Brooks Carter and Nathan Connors all finished with personal best times.

Turning to the girls team, they also lost both meets to Masco 22-37 and Pentucket 27-32 putting the team's record to 5-4 overall. Sydnee Russo was first for the Wildcats with a time of 20:14, a personal best time and that gave her the second overall place against Pentucket and third overall against Masco.

"She is just a freshman and that time ranks her second on our course in Wilmington since my tenure," said Bradley.

Nikki Sirignano followed with a 20:34 time, which gives her the fifth all-time mark at the course under Bradley.

"Nikki's season last year was very good but hampered by shin splints," said

Bradley. "She is finishing her career with a spectacular senior season."

Callie O'Connell was next for the Wildcats, followed by Amy Fisher (21:46), Keara MacCorkle (22:04), Hannah Kelly (22:05), Lori Fletcher (22:16), Alex Polcari (22:43), who all put forth great efforts with personal best times. Also finishing with a personal record includes Kate Richardson, Savannah Hubbard, Catrina Fryer, Ali and Geena Scalfani, Melissa King and Jen Kannally.

WHS Golf

The Wilmington High golf team sent two members of their squad to the Cape Ann league championships last Thursday afternoon at far Corners Golf Course in Boxford. Senior Captain Steve Spurr and junior John Keough represented the Wildcats in the field of 31 of the best golfers in the league.

Spurr and Keough have led the Wildcats all season long, so it was no surprise that they were selected by coach Steve Lynch to represent their team at the league meet.

"Those two have earned it," Lynch said. "They have been going back and forth as our top player all year long."

It was not the best of days for either player, as they battled cold and windy conditions. Spurr shot an 85 to earn a fifth place finish, while Keough shot a 91 to finish 21st.

"It's hard to complain about the weather because everybody had to play in the same conditions, but at the same time, it would have been nice for them to be able to play their best game under better conditions," Lynch said.

The Wildcats did take home an award from the tournament as they received the Sportsmanship Award for the Cape Ann League. This is Wilmington's last season in the CAL as they will join the Middlesex League next season.

Prior to the CAL Tournament the Wildcats had wrapped up their season with a berth in the Division 2 North Tournament last week. While that tournament may not have gone as well as the Wildcats would have liked, with a 12th place finish, they had gone on a remarkable run to finish the regular season at 7-7 and earn the tournament berth.

Regardless of any results, Lynch is able to look back on this season with fond memories of a great group of not just golfers, but great young men as well.

"What made the year a lot of fun is that it was a great group of kids," Lynch said. "Not just the kids who played all the time, but even the kids who did not play were always there to support the team. All it takes is a couple of bad apples to ruin a team, but I have been very fortunate over the past four years to have a great group of gentlemen and ladies playing for me."

CORRECTION

In last week's Wilmington High School Golf story, it was said that Mike Chiricosta led the Wildcats in their huge win over North Andover, when it should have said Matt Chiricosta. The Town Crier regrets the error.

WHS Volleyball

The Wilmington High School Girls Volleyball team lost all three of its matches this past week which officially eliminated the team from state tournament play. Wilmington was swept by North Reading, Masconomet and Peabody in three straight sets.

Against Masco, the highlights included four aces by Taylor Hanley, four kills by Amanda Keane, 14 digs and 4 aces by Ana Perullo and ten digs by Caitlin McDonough. In the loss to Peabody, Katie Aoki had 15 kills and two aces, Michelle Woods had five kills and Hanley again had four aces.

WHS Girls Soccer

The Wildcats finished this past week with a 4-0 loss to Masconomet before ending in a 1-1 tie with Ipswich on Saturday. In the tie, Alexa Brown scored the lone goal on a nice set up by Taylor Shelton, while keeper Sarah Luz made six saves. Playing well in front of her included sophomore Lauren McKenna and freshman Kelly Hartsough.

Defender Marlina Otis, midfielder Jackie Parece and Brown all played well in the losing effort against Masco. Wilmington is now 3-7-4 overall.

WHS Field Hockey

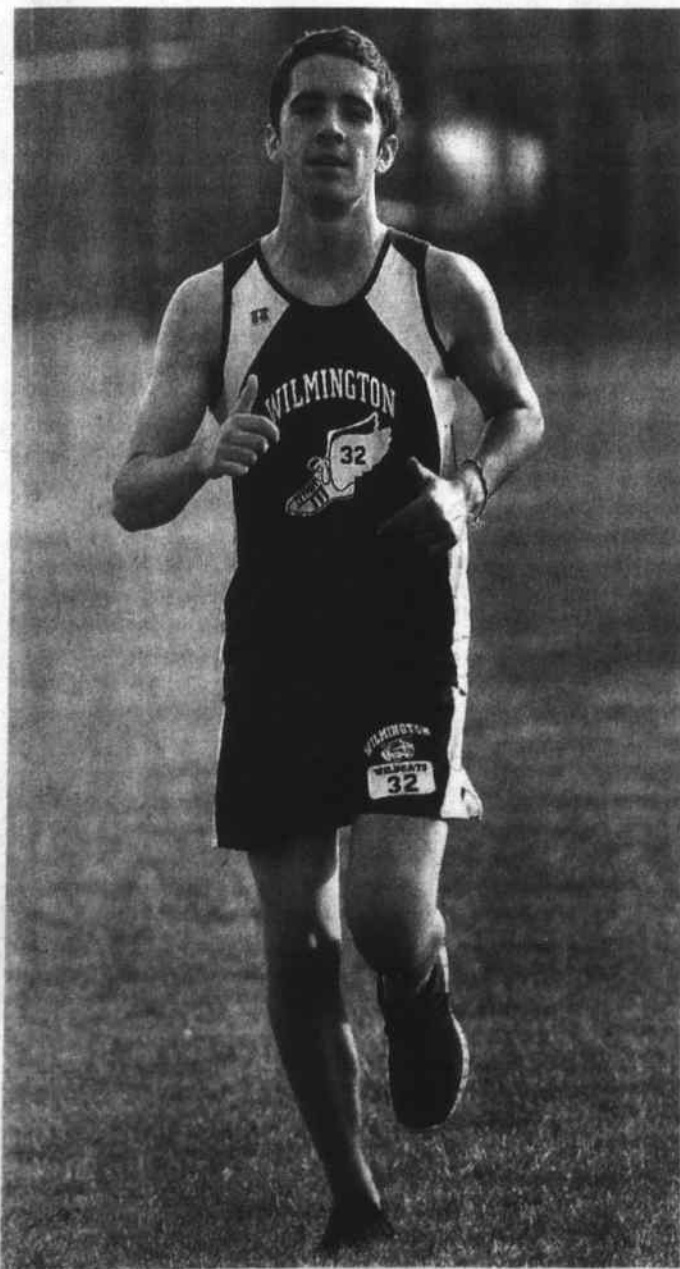

After being on fire the last few weeks, the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team took a major step backwards this past week losing to both Newburyport, 1-0, and Pentucket, 2-0, putting the team's overall record to 9-6-3 overall, slipping the team from second place to fifth in the Cape Ann League large school standings.

"The end of the season has been a tough one for us, but I'm confident that we can pull it together for our last game and get the win," said head coach Jodi MacKenzie. "As of today (Wednesday), we are ranked eighth (overall) in the league and I would really like to win tonight to get the better seed and home field advantage in the tournament. The team is going to keep the faith alive, and work hard for the remainder of the season."

"My senior captains have been a great trio and I expect them to finish up the season with a win."

On Tuesday the Friends of Wilmington Field Hockey will be holding a fundraiser at the 99 Restaurant from 5:00-8:00 pm. All welcome to attend.

Cape Ann League Football action

Sachems chop down Wildcats perfect season

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

WEST NEWBURY - Throughout their spectacular undefeated start to their season, the Wilmington High football made a habit of jumping on top of their opponents early and then continuing to apply pressure, all the while adding to their lead. It was a pretty effective formula, one that allowed the Wildcats to stun Eastern Mass. football with a six-point lead.

On Saturday afternoon at Pentucket Regional High School, the Wildcats had no problem once again getting off to a fast start, but it was the rest of the game that did not go as planned as the Wildcats fell to their Cape Ann Large rivals by a score of 17-14.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 6-1 on the season (0-1 CAL Large) while Pentucket improved to 5-2 (1-1).

Wilmington jumped out to an early 7-0 lead, but Pentucket took a 10-7 lead into the half which they would extend to 17-7 in the third quarter. Wilmington mounted a last minute comeback attempt to close within three points, but fell short when a failed onside kick attempt sealed their fate.

"We started off well, but then we did not play well for the rest of the game," Wilmington coach Mike Barry said. "But you have to give all the credit in the world to Pentucket. When two teams play each other, usually the team that plays better will win and they played better than us today."

Wilmington didn't just start off well; they looked downright dominant on their opening drive of the game. After a 27-yard kickoff return by Chris Frissore gave his team good field position at the 37 yard line, the Wildcats proceeded to go on an eight play, 63-yard drive to jump out to an early 7-0 lead.

Senior quarterback Sean Hanley (13-for-20, 150 yards) completed a pair of passes to Frissore on the drive, but the bulk of the work was done by senior running back Kevin Moriarty (15 carries, 89 yards), who ran for 41 yards on the drive, including a 26-yard burst down to the Sachems 25 yard line.

Moriarty later capped the drive with a two yard burst up the middle with 7:25 left in the first quarter. Chris Frissore added the first of two extra points on the day for the 7-0 advantage.

The Wildcats defense appeared to be rolling as well, holding Pentucket to a three and out to start the game. For a moment it looked like the Wildcats were going to take complete control of the game, but the Pentucket defense stiffened and the teams traded possessions for the rest of the quarter.

The Wildcats still seemed to be in control, however, until one play completely shifted the momentum of the game. On just the second play of the second quarter, Pentucket running back Nolan Dragon broke free for a 76 yard touchdown run, breaking a tackle in the Wildcats and then making several cuts on his way down the field and into the end zone for a 7-7 tie with 10:32 left in the first half.

Dragon would gain 116 yards on the day, part of 204 yards on the ground by the Sachems.

"We knew they could run the ball well," Barry said. "We knew that number 46 (Dragon) and number 34 were good players. They didn't do anything we weren't prepared for, but we just couldn't stop them at times."

It looked like the Wildcats might bounce right back with a score, when on the ensuing possession they drove from their yard line all the way to the Pentucket 10 where they had a first and goal. But on the 10th play of the drive, Pentucket's Mike Doud picked off a Hanley pass at the five to snuff out the drive. After the ensuing kickoff Wilmington mounted an impressive drive from their 30 yard line down to the Pentucket 10 where they had a first and goal, but a Sachems interception by Mike Doud stopped the drive.

Pentucket's final drive of the half was their most impressive, as they marched 10 plays down to the Wildcat 13 yard line, and Paul Treado nailed a 31-yard field goal as time expired in the half to send Pentucket to the locker room with a 10-7 lead.

Pentucket extended the lead to 17-7 with 3:34 left in the third quarter when Doud connected with John Modlish on a 28-yard touchdown pass in the back of the end zone.

It looked as if that's how the game would end, especially when Wilmington faced a fourth and six from their own nine yard line with under three minutes left in the game. But Hanley connected with Frissore on a 15 yard gain and then completed seven more passes on a drive that was capped by a 10-yard touchdown pass to Matt Ferreira with 59 seconds left in the game. Hanley passed for 92 yards on the drive, and Barry was impressed with not only his quarterback's poise late in the game, but his entire team's desire in the closing minutes.

"We may not have played well, but we played hard," Barry said. "Even when things looked bleak we fought through it. We will try to take something positive out of this and we can certainly look at the way the kids continued to play hard to the end."

The Wildcats were unable to recover the onside kick which was snared by Pentucket's Dan Cashman, and the Wildcats tasted defeat for the first time this season.

The Wildcats will try to get back to their winning ways on Friday night when they host Cape Ann Large rival Masconomet at Alumni Field at 7:00. Masco brings just a 2-5 record into the game, but they sit atop the CAL Large with a 1-0 league record after a 32-7 rout of Triton last week on the road.

"They're a good team," Barry said. "They have had a pretty good defense all year and their offense really came alive last week. We know they will come in ready to play. It's a good program and they are always well prepared."

Shawsheen Tech Sports Wrap-Up

Volleyball team grabs 15th win and share of league title

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech volleyball team is closing in on at least a share of the Commonwealth Athletic Conference Upper Division title. With two more wins this past week, the Lady Rams improved to 15-2 overall (14-1 in the CAC), leaving them in a tie with Whittier Tech for the top spot in the league.

With just one league game left for both Shawsheen and Whittier, who have split their two meetings this season, the mission is clear for the Lady Rams; win their final match and at the very worst they will tie for the league championship.

The path to the title will not be easy for Shawsheen, as they will travel to Greater Lowell on Thursday in their quest for that final win. Earlier this season at Shawsheen the Lady Rams pulled out a hard fought 3-2 win over the Gryphons, and Shawsheen coach Chet Flynn expects a similarly tough battle on Thursday.

"It will be a big challenge for us," Flynn said. "They are a good team and they battled us last time in our own gym, so we know we will have our hands full."

Shawsheen put themselves in position to clinch the title with two more league wins this past week, downing Greater Lawrence 3-1 (25-21, 25-18, 21-25, 25-11) in a road match on Thursday and coming back the next day to rout Mystic Valley 3-0 (25-19, 25-15, 25-11).

The Greater Lawrence match on Thursday was a great indicator for Shawsheen as to where they stand in the league. The Reggie's are the defending league champs, and while they are not the team they were last year, they are still one of the better teams in the league and the Lady Rams were able to post a big win on the road.

"We had some kids battling illnesses and so forth, but they kept battling," Flynn said. "Greater Lawrence is not as dominant as last year but they are a good team that is playing well and we responded well to the challenge."

Senior Allyson Trayah of Tewksbury had a great all around game for Shawsheen, with nine service points and four kills.

"She really stepped up and played well," Flynn said. "She also made some shots that don't show up on the stat sheets, like making a tip at the right time that ends up in resulting in a point for us. That doesn't show up in the box score, but it is a huge play."

After the Lady Rams lost the third game of the match, Jess Houghton started off the fourth set with eight straight service points to set the tone and lead the Rams to the match clinching victory.

"That was huge for us after losing that third game," Flynn said. "Volleyball is a game of momentum and they had it going into that game. But we had first serve and Jess let us jump right on top."

Laura Sorenson added 12 service points and three kills in the victory.

The next day against Mystic Valley things were a little easier for Shawsheen, but Flynn was impressed with the way Mystic battled his talented team.

"Mystic played us very tough in that first game," Flynn said. "I was impressed with their hustle and their overall enthusiasm. As the match went on we started playing better and did not make as many errors as we made in the first game."

Trayah had 11 service points in the win, while Houghton had 12 service points and Kellsey Davey had five kills.

Boys Soccer

The Shawsheen Boys Soccer team gave it all they had, but they fell just short of qualifying for the state tournament despite a win and a tie in their two most recent games. The Rams are now 6-8-3 on the season with just one game left in the season, leaving them out of the state tournament for the first time in the past 11 seasons.

After starting the week with a 4-0 loss to CAC leader Northeast last Wednesday, the Rams needed to win their final three games of the season to clinch a post season berth. They took the first step towards that task on Saturday on the road against non-league rival Winthrop, pulling out a clutch 3-2 come from behind victory, but on Monday at home the Rams played well, but could only muster a 1-1 tie against Blackstone.

After the tie against Blackstone, Shawsheen coach Dick Barriss, who has presided over all of the state tournament teams for the Rams over the past 10 years, could not help but look back on some missed opportunities earlier in the season.

"Without a doubt I would love to have a few games back. I can think of a least three or four games where we threw away a point or two and that came back to bite us," Barriss said. "The kids were pretty upset after the game, and there is not a lot you can say in a situation like that."

In the win over Winthrop the Rams got a goal from senior fullback Sean Plunkett in the first half and by senior forward Brett Hanlon as well as Plunkett in the second half as the Rams overcame a 2-1 halftime deficit.

Both of Plunkett's goals came off of throw ins by sophomore forward Mike Biondo, called up to the varsity for the game due to the Rams missing a couple of key players.

Shawsheen goalie Ian MacKinnon made 13 saves for the win.

Shawsheen tied the game early in the second half on Hanlon's goal after a great hustle play by both he and senior forward Kris Galdi. Galdi made a sliding kick and crashed into the Winthrop goalie, forcing the ball to come free where hustling Hanlon pounced on the ball and drilled it into the Winthrop net.

"That was a really good win for us at the time," Barriss said. "The kids worked for the win. That tying goal was a great example of the effort they put in. It was only through their hustle that we were able to score that goal to begin with."

Galdi scored the Rams lone goal in the tie with Blackstone, putting the Rams on top three minutes into the game, but Blackstone scored the tying goal on a penalty kick minutes before the end of the first half and the Rams could not get the game winning goal that would have kept them alive for a tournament berth.

Barriss was of course disappointed to see his team fall short of the post season, but one thing he was not disappointed in was his team's effort during this past week as well as the entire season.

"I could not have asked for more effort, more honesty or more of a team," Barriss said. "They were a group of really great kids. They may not have been the most talented soccer players, but character wise they were right up there with any kids I have coached."

Girls Soccer

The Shawsheen girls soccer team has long since qualified for the state tournament, and had already clinched their fourth straight CAC Large School championship. The only question left for them as they wound down the season was whether or not they would be able to complete the regular season undefeated.

That dream came to an end last Friday afternoon as the Lady Rams suffered their first loss of the season on the road to non-league rival Winthrop by a score of 3-2 in a game where Shawsheen was missing five key players due to injury and had to call up three players from their JV squad.

Sandwiched around the loss to Winthrop were two more CAC victories, with the Lady Rams routing Chelsea 5-0 on Thursday afternoon and on Monday afternoon they easily downed Northeast by a score of 4-0.

But it was the loss that garnered most of the attention when looking back at Shawsheen's week, and coach Doug Michaud was happy with his short handed team's play against a talented foe.

"Losing may have been a negative, but the way we played was a positive," Michaud said. "We had tied them 1-1 earlier in the season at home so we knew going in with so many players out that it would be tough. But we brought up some players from JV and see what we could do with what we had left."

Shawsheen was without forward Kim Barriss, the CAC MVP, as well as defenders Taylor Bergstrom and Sabrina Gomes, along with midfielder Julie Russell and goalie Jen Curtis.

Shawsheen got goals from sophomore Arianna Medeiros of Tewksbury, along with Casey Browne, but it was not enough to overcome Winthrop.

Brought up from the JV squad for the game were sophomores Kristen Callahan and Meredith Bonafgli of Tewksbury along with freshman Rachel Fahey. They did not get called up just to be bodies on the Shawsheen sideline. Each contributed in the game.

"They were involved for a full game," Michaud said. "They were not just on our bench. They each saw a lot of playing time and got a lot of great experience and also played very well for us."

Shawsheen started their week with a 5-0 win over Chelsea, and they were led by a key player coming back from an injury, with senior Erin Plunkett scoring three goals after missing a month due to a concussion.

"We were really looking forward to having her up front for us all year so it was great to get her back," Michaud said. "She is a great playmaker. She does not kick the ball very far, but is very fast and in close she is great. She has the ability to move past opposing players even with just a little bit of room."

In the 4-0 win over Northeast the Rams got goals from Plunkett, Kristen Carroll of Tewksbury, Rachel Blanchard of Wilmington and Kristen Callahan of Tewksbury.

On Tuesday night the Lady Rams had five players named to the CAC All-Star team. In addition to Barriss winning the league MVP, the Lady Rams are also represented on the team by Marissa Irwin, Arianna Medeiros, Kristen Carroll and Jen Curtis.

Cross Country

Both the boys and girls cross country teams at Shawsheen Tech swapped up CAC titles on Tuesday afternoon against Greater Lowell. The boys downed the Gryphons by a score of 22-36, while the girls eked out a thriller with a 28-29 win.

For the boys, the win completed a perfect 8-0 regular season and it is their third consecutive undefeated CAC regular season. The Rams are also back to back defending league meet champions and will get a chance to extend that streak next Wednesday at Essex Aggie.

Greater Lowell took the top spot in the race with Chad Crowther pacing the field in a time of 18:56, but the Rams took six of the next seven positions to put the meet away.

Matt Mann led the way for the Rams, finishing second overall in a time of 19:01, followed by Dan Boudreau in 19:07 and Devon Dembowski in 19:08.

After Greater Lowell's Bryant Va took fifth overall in a time of 19:22, the Rams took the next three spots behind Ryan Tirabassi (19:27), Anthony Finn (19:40) and Richard Silk (20:08).

The girls side was much more hotly contested, with the Lady Rams narrowly pulling out the one point win to improve to 9-1 on the season. Johanne Legrand of Shawsheen finished first overall in a time of 22:52 for her seventh consecutive first place finish.

But it was later in the standings where the Lady Rams got the points they so desperately needed. Jessica Goodhue took fourth overall in 26:09, while Amanda Leonard was sixth in 26:37.

After Greater Lowell grabbed the seventh overall spot, Shawsheen took the next four spots to secure the victory behind Brianna Lynch (26:42), Kendra Craigie (27:32), Sabrina Reynolds (27:37) and Angela Turco (28:01).

Rams Football team finally overtakes Whittier

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

HAVERHILL—There is a long way to go in the season and many more tough opponents ahead, but on Saturday afternoon the Shawsheen Tech football team certainly looked like a team with thoughts of a spot in the post season, after they came up with a huge 16-6 win over CAC Large rival Whittier Tech, the defending Division 4 Super Bowl champions.

To call the Rams defensive effort in the win dominating would be a dramatic understatement. Shawsheen held Whittier without a first down for the entire game and held the Wildcats to just 102 yards of total offense, 80 of those yards coming on one play late in the fourth quarter for Whittier's only score of the game.

The Rams held the Wildcats to four yards of total offense in the second half prior to the touchdown run as they perfectly executed their game plan to completely shut down Whittier's normally potent offense.

The win improved the Rams record on the season to 5-1 overall and 1-0 in the CAC Large, while Whittier dropped to 3-4 (1-1).

After the game, Shawsheen coach Al Costabile talked about his team's defensive effort.

"That was our best defensive performance in my 13 years as head coach," Costabile said. "It was just phenomenal team effort. Our staff did a great job preparing the kids and they responded with a great effort."

The last time the Rams defeated Whittier was 2004, a season which ended in a post season berth for Shawsheen, as they went on to lose in the State Vocational championship game to Bay Path.

While Costabile wasn't ready to even think about the post season at this point, he was very pleased to see his team break their skein against Whittier.

"They have a great program," Costabile said. "To come in here and beat Whittier is tough. They are a great program with great coaches. There is a reason for their success over the years."

Offensively, Shawsheen was led by senior fullback Devin Conneaney who ran the ball 13 times for 135 yards, while junior running back Andrew Dascoli had 60 yards rushing and a touchdown and senior quarterback Ryan Woolaver of Tewksbury connected for a 30 yard second half touchdown pass to senior wide receiver Bob Greenwood of Tewksbury.

Shawsheen led 9-0 at the half behind Dascoli's touchdown and a safety after a sack in the end zone.

Shawsheen looked primed to take the lead on their first series of the game, driving to the Whittier 30 yard line, but a fumble stalled the drive. Whittier, however, was unable to take advantage of the turnover as they moved backwards due to a combination of penalties and great Shawsheen defense.

Linebacker Conneaney, defensive back Dascoli and nose tackle Dave Summiel of Tewksbury would not allow Whittier to get anything on offense throughout the half. Summiel and Conneaney clogged up the middle and if Whittier attempted to move to the outside Dascoli or defensive back mates like Woolaver, Greenwood and Steve Reynolds of Wilmington were there to stuff them just as effectively.

Shawsheen controlled field position throughout the first half and then got their best field position of the half early in the second quarter when junior Lenny Houghton recovered a Whittier fumble at the Wildcat 22 yard line. Four plays later Shawsheen made the Wildcats pay for their miscue when Dascoli scored on a four yard burst up the middle for a 7-0 lead with 8:44 left in the half.

Shawsheen would add to their lead just before the half when after a bad snap by Whittier, sophomore defensive end Devin Summiel of Tewksbury sacked the quarterback in the end zone for a safety and a 9-0 lead with 1:10 left in the half.

It was more of the same in the second half for the Rams defense as they once again stymied Whittier, and the offense, after being held in check despite the great field position, got into gear.

Conneaney led the way on the longest drive of the day, a 12 play 80 yard drive on which he accounted for 37 of the yards on the ground.

The drive was capped, however, by the passing game when Woolaver executed a perfect play action and then rolled to his left before hitting a wide open Greenwood for a 30 yard touchdown pass and a 16-0 lead with 2:22 left in the third quarter after Devonn Pratt added his second extra point of the day.

Costabile pointed to that drive, and Conneaney's play in particular as a turning point in the game.

"Devin was so effective running the trap on that drive," Costabile said. "Field position had clearly swung in their favor and we were in danger of seeing momentum switch their way as well. But Devin made four or five runs that brought us into the Whittier end and then we were able to finish it off with the pass."

Whittier would finally get on the board on what would be their final possession of the game when Jay Desjardin slipped through the middle of the Shawsheen defense and broke free for the 80 yard touchdown run with 2:09 left in the game.

"This win can catapult us," Costabile said. "Coming off our bye week and coming in here and getting a big win was huge for us. What it does is gives us the ability to control our own destiny."

By DAN IGO

Sports Correspondent

Wilmington's Ernie Mello was rewarded for his outstanding play for the WPI football team this week after being named the Liberty League's "Co-Special Teams Performer of the Week."

Mello, a junior running back, returned a blocked punt for a touchdown in WPI's 16-15 loss to Rochester. He also had 98 yards on three kickoff returns in the tight loss. On the offensive side of the ball, Mello had 106 yards rushing, including a 39-yard third-quarter touchdown.

Mello has been a force for the Engineers this season, rushing for 530 yards and scoring four touchdowns. Both stats lead the team. This also isn't Mello's first time being honored by the Liberty League. In September 2008 he was named "Offensive Performer of the Week."

The Engineers are back in action on Saturday when they travel to New York to take on Hobart.

Sammy Macy scored two goals on Wednesday to help lead the No. 2 UMass Lowell field hockey team to a 4-0 win over American International College.

Macy, a senior forward from Tewksbury, scored both her goals in the first half. She has 20 goals and 11 assists this year, which both lead the team. She was named to the Northeast-10 Conference "Honor Roll" last week for her efforts.

The River Hawks are a perfect 15-0 this year, including 5-0 in conference. They'll look to continue their winning ways on Wednesday against No. 6 Stonehill.

Wilmington's Taryn Martiniello scored two goals in the span of 32 seconds for the Brandeis women's soccer team in a 10-0 thrashing of Lesley University on Tuesday in the team's last regular season home game over the year.

Martiniello, a senior defender, also had an assist in the

The Judges have had a strong season, sporting a record of 12-3-1. It is their highest regular season win total since 2004. They return to action Friday when they take on Washington University.

Senior forward Brianne Bozzella scored her sixth goal of the season to help lead the UMass Lowell women's soccer team to a 3-0 victory over Pace University on Saturday. The Wilmington native scored in the 57th minute to give the River Hawks a 2-0 lead at the time. Bozzella's six goals are tied for the team lead. The River Hawks snapped a three-game losing streak with the win and currently sport a record of 7-8-1. They wrap up their regular season Wednesday against Assumption.

Fellow Wilmington resident Stephen Potcner also had a key goal for the UMass Lowell men's soccer team in its 2-0 win over Merrimack on Tuesday night. Potcner, a senior forward, converted a penalty kick in the 81st minute for his fifth goal of the season to put the game away. The River Hawks are unbeaten in their last three games (2-0-1) and will take on New Haven on Friday.

Two Tewksbury runners put together strong performances for the UMass Lowell women's cross-country team at the Kutztown Division II Challenge on Saturday afternoon.

Senior Sarah Bonomo

placed 18th amongst scoring runners in the 6K event with a time of 23:41 to help lead the River Hawks to a fifth place overall finish. Sophomore Nicole Skotz finished 33rd amongst scoring runners with a time of 24:37.

The River Hawks have this weekend off and return the following week at the Northeast-10 Conference Championship at Stonehill College.

Wilmington sophomore Matt Figueiredo notched his first assist of the season for the Salem State men's soccer team in its 4-0 win over Southern Maine. The Vikings improved their record to 7-5-3 and will take on Massachusetts Maritime Academy on Saturday.

Several Wildcat Pop Warner teams making playoff bids

The Wilmington Pop Warner A team was tested by a deep and physically large Woburn squad but in the end they bested their long-time rivals by a score of 22-12.

Running back Jomikeson Bera led the Wildcats with two touchdown runs while Joseph Scurto recovered a fumble in the end zone for the Wildcats third score on the day. The win puts the Wilmington A team at 7-0 on the season and in sole possession of first place in the Eastern Massachusetts Pop Warner Patriot Division.

The Patriot Division is a brand new unlimited weight division being offered by Pop Warner this season and although the Wildcats are often undersized against their opponents, their speed, tenacity, technical skills and hard-hitting play have made them a force to be reckoned with.

The Wildcats have already clinched the Middlesex Division Championship and are one win away from a perfect regular season and the top seeding in their quest for an Eastern Massachusetts championship.

The game got off to a less than perfect start for the Wildcats when they fumbled the opening kickoff which was recovered by Woburn. Woburn marched down the field and scored a touchdown. Woburn missed the PAT so they led 6-0 just minutes into the game. Wilmington was unflinching as they came back on the next possession to drive 60 yards for the score by Bera. Wildcats Quarterback and kicker James O'Regan converted his PAT and the Wildcats took an 8-6 lead.

Both teams exchanged scores with Woburn missing their PAT while O'Regan converted another extra point to give the Wildcats a 16-12 lead going into the second half. Another score by Bera in the second half extended the Wilmington lead to 22-12 and that was the final score of the game. The offense was paced by the quarterback tandem of James O'Regan and Zach Lord, running backs Bera, Kyle Callahan, and Joseph Scurto as well as receivers Connor Bennett, and Jonathan Roberts.

The offensive line has been a strong point of the Wildcats team all season and they were led by Michael Amato, Ryan Broderick, Nicholas Cimaglia, Austin Ferreira and Aaron Harrington. Other offensive linemen contributing on the day and all season include Ryan Adams, Andrew Lesperance, John Irizarry and Michael Daly. Bera and Scurto's running this season has certainly been paced by a dominant offensive line.

The defense was solid against Woburn. A sack by Connor Bennett, two interceptions by James O'Regan excellent coverage by corner back Zack Tobo and solid line play by Peter Daley and Robert Fullerton paced the defense. Linebackers Ryan Broderick and the hard-hitting Austin Ferreira anchored a dominant Wildcats defense that was playing without the injured Matt Penney, a team leader and one of the dominant defensive players for the squad.

The Wildcat defense has given up only 38 points through seven games while also recording three shut outs. To put it in perspective, the Wildcats A team have outscored their opponents by a combined score of 156-38 through those seven games.

While much of the success for the season can be attributed to the players, a great deal of credit needs to be given to the coaches. Head Coach Don Kenney has been an institution with Wilmington Pop Warner for over 15 years and his ability to get these players to believe in themselves and his philosophy, especially after last season's 1-7 finish is a testament to his guidance, preparation and leadership.

Assistant Coaches Sean Lord, Mark Ferreira, and Matt Ferreira have helped to guide the Wilmington A team to a very successful season so far.

The team has already secured a Middlesex Division Championship and the next goal is an Eastern Massachusetts conference championship and hopefully a New England Championship. The team will continue its quest for a perfect regular season next week against Waltham. The Teams first playoff game will be on November 7th, time and place still to be determined.

B Team

The Wilmington Wildcat Pop Warner B team lost a tough contest to Woburn this Sunday at Woburn. The final score appeared to be 22-0; however, it is unclear if Woburn scored their final touchdown on a pass in to the end-zone after time had expired and the clock read 15-0 in favor of Woburn as the teams exited the field. The game was basically even until the end and the Wilmington team gave it their all and has nothing to be ashamed of from their performance last Sunday.

The game started out with some tough defense by the Wilmington team. Linebackers John Maga, Taylor Dipentino and Harry Middleton were basically everywhere, stepping up and stopping the Woburn running attack. The defensive ends of Alex Hiltz, Joe Visalli and Cody Wile had a huge game and basically shut down the Woburn attack on the perimeter, as well as off tackle. The defensive line was lead by Anthony Ferrara, and had outstanding run stuffing from David Woods, Tommy Magee, Jimmy Carroll and Fox Maxwell.

The secondary was superb all day, despite missing two of their top players. Bradley Gilbert, Joe Pineau, John Pasquariello, Tommy Simmons and Dylan Masiello were able to hold the Woburn passing attack to minus yard throughout most of the first half.

On Wilmington's second possession a counter play by John Pasquariello went for 30 plus yards and gave the Wilmington team the first opportunity to score. Unfortunately, their drive was stopped on fourth down, just short of the Woburn 28 yard line. The teams went back and forth, however a Wilmington fumble gave Woburn an opportunity after Wilmington had gained a huge first down.

The Woburn drive was stopped on a huge stuff by John Maga on a fourth down attempt by Woburn. Maga's hit could be heard throughout the stadium and knocked the Woburn runner back past the yard marker. The teams again traded field possession with Wilmington holding the upper hand.

Woburn had not been scored upon before this game, however, Wilmington threatened on countless occasions. John Pasquariello took a Woburn punt back to the Woburn 35 yard line just before halftime, however, the Wilmington drive stalled just short of paydirt. Woburn was eventually able to punch the first 6 points on the board just before halftime with a screen-swing pass down the Wilmington sideline. The Wilmington team had a chance to box the receiver up, but missed tackles resulted in a touchdown for Woburn just before halftime. A conversion after a botched extra point made it 7-0 at halftime.

Wilmington started out strong at the beginning of the second half. A Dylan Masiello onside kick was recovered by Tommy Magee at midfield and the Wilmington team went to work. The rushing attack, with John Reynolds and Brian Neal out with injuries, was lead by John Connor Paquette drives to the goal line while Anthony Bowker #55 and Michael Steen #77 look on during the Wilmington Pop Warner E-2 team's game against Arlington.

Pasquariello, Dylan Masiello, Brad Gilbert and Tommy Simmons. The offensive line was lead by John Maga at center, as well as guards Anthony Ferrara, Alex Hiltz, Fox Maxwell, as well as tackles David Woods, Tommy Magee and Jimmy Carroll.

The tight ends of Taylor Dipentino, Cody Wile and Harry Middleton were superb all day and the quarterbacking duties were handled by Joe Pineau. Unfortunately, a Woburn interception and run back lead to a touchdown and a 15-0 lead for Woburn, after a successful two-point conversion attempt.

Woburn had another interception just before the end of the game and eventually scored on a play action pass with no time remaining on the clock, although it is unclear if the last touchdown counted as the play started after time had expired and the officials didn't make a ruling and just ended the game without allowing Woburn to try an extra point.

The Wilmington team had one of their best games on defense and should be credited for bringing an outstanding effort against a superior Division 1 team. Unfortunately, without scoring they were denied a chance to even up the game. Inactive because of injury this game were tailbacks Johnny Reynolds and Brian Neal. The team travels to Arlington on Wednesday to play in a dogfight against Arlington and Burlington for an opportunity to get in to the playoffs. The team travels to Waltham next weekend for its final game of the regular season.

C Team

An impressive 62-yard touchdown run by Sam Jennings was the highlight of the Wilmington Pop Warner C team's loss at Woburn last Sunday. Jennings got to the outside and out-ran a Trojan defender down the right sideline for the score. The Wildcats also added the extra-point with a run by David Bailey.

Using a shotgun offense frequently, the Wildcats had some success passing the ball in the game. Quarterback Scott Newton had four completions. He and Jennings connected on a screen pass that gained 16 yards early in the second half. There was also a nine-yard Newton to Bobby Gostanian pass during the Wildcat touchdown drive capped by Jennings' run.

Members of the Wilmington team include Charlie Minghella, Nick Ford, Brian Domek, Mike Feyler, Brendan Thorpe, Connor Robinson, Zach Ahlin, Jake Ponte, Chance Harper, Jack Sweeney, Richie Ellen, Jake Lutz, Joe Cummings, Connor Musto, Billy McEvoy, Michael Stanford, Stephen Bowker and Brendan Daly.

The Wildcats play their final game of the season at Waltham next Sunday.

D2

The Wilmington D2 Football Team overcame a 6-0 deficit and scored 26 straight points against Woburn on their way to a 26-13 victory on Sunday. The story of the game was the blistering blocking by offensive linemen Joey Dumoulin at center, guards Pat McAndrew and Mark Companschi, tackles Josh Smith and Shane Calla and tight ends Aaron Soto and Ryan Brewer. The Wildcats ran the ball 34 times and rushed for almost 250 yards in the game, a testament to outstanding offensive line play.

Woburn received the opening kickoff and powered an eight play drive down the field for the opening score of the game. Their extra point conversion was no good so the score sat at 6-0 in favor of Woburn.

The Wildcats never flinched and they received their kickoff and had a four play drive that was capped off with a 40 yard touchdown run by John Kenney, his first of four touchdowns runs on the day. Kenney was explosive, running the ball 18 times for 198 yards and four touchdowns including runs of 40 yards, two yards, six yards and a 60 yard touchdown run in the second half to seal the game for Wilmington. After giving up the opening touchdown, the Wildcats scored 20 unanswered points to close out the first half against a stunned Woburn team 20-6.

Quarterback Kyle Kenyon, fullback Peter Marino and wingback Ryan Wackrow combined for fifty yards of rushing but it was their punishing blocks on defensive ends and linebackers that opened big gaping holes in the defense all day. Kenyon was excellent at quarterback directing and leading the offense all day long. The offense had no fumbles or miscues all day due in large part to Kenyon's direction at quarterback. The entire offense played with great discipline and committed only two penalties all day, a sign of a well disciplined football team.

On the defensive side of the ball, the Wildcats were outstanding all day going up against an older, deeper and bigger Woburn squad. Defensive Lineman Frankie Irizarry fought off double teams all day against Woburn's Single Wing offense and led the defensive linemen with five tackles. Lineman Jackson Smith had two tackles and put pressure on the Woburn quarterback in the second half when Woburn tried to start passing the ball to get back in the game. Nose Tackle Sam Vince was a monster all day recording four tackles and he also had a key forced fumble and fumble recovery in the first half that stalled a Woburn offensive drive.

The heart of the Wilmington defense was linebackers Pat Carroll, Ben Pastore, Mark Companschi, Joey Dumoulin and Peter Marino. The linebackers accounted for sixteen tackles on the day, many for a loss. Dumoulin in particular had a strong game with seven tackles from his middle linebacker spot. His day was even more impressive due to the fact that he was also starting his first game at center to replace the injured Jared Marquard. Dumoulin was the only player on the team that did not take a single play off the entire game.

The defensive backs were strong in run support and pass coverage. Kenney and Cam Gilbert combined for nine tackles on the day, many of which were long run saving tackles. Overall, the defense had an outstanding day.

After a slow start to the season, the Wilmington D2 team has won three of their last four games and are currently tied with Winchester D1 for second place in the Middlesex division. A game against Winchester next week will determine if the Wilmington D2 team makes the Eastern Massachusetts Conference playoffs.

The team has come a long way from the beginning of the season when they started with six first-year players and eleven players fresh up from the E team.

A win next week and a playoff berth would be a great punctuation on a fine season for the Wilmington D2 team.

E-1 Wildcats

The E1 Wildcats continued their winning ways on Sunday against the Arlington Spy Ponders by a score of 20-6, making it their third win in a row and staying undefeated in the month of October 3-0.

Once again the defense got it started when Zack Kincaid and Defensive Ends Connor Rooney and David Fraser collapsed into the backfield causing a fumble that was recovered by Sean Kelley ending the Arlington threat. The offensive then drove down the field on hard running plays by running back Bailey Smith, Joey Demonico and quarterback Christian Robarge and got inside the fiveyard line before turning the ball over at the two yard line.

The Wildcat defense then came up big when Zack Kincaid and David Fraser busted thru the middle of the Arlington defense with help from Shane Roberts and James Davey and sacked the back in the end zone for a safety and a 2-0 lead.

The offensive line then went to work on the Spy ponder defense, led by center Nolan Fitzgerald and lineman Mark Valente, Alex Boehm, Chris Pearson opening up running lanes for Smith and Demonico to get positive yardage up the field. Then quarterback Christian Robarge tossed the ball to Demonico, and he ran thru the Arlington defense with great blocking from Rooney, Smith and Kincaid to take the ball to the house for the wildcats first touchdown of the day making the score 8-0.

The Wildcat defense then came up with some big defensive plays including some nice open field tackles by Chris Robarge and Joey Demonico, while defensive ends Sean Kelley and David Fraser kept the Arlington running attack inside and for short gains.

The offense then came up with a great drive to score again. The running back combo of Smith, Kincaid and Demonico proved to be too much for the Arlington defense by pounding the ball on the ground and carrying defenders all over the field. The drive culminated with a great team effort when quarterback Robarge tossed again to Joey Demonico who followed his two lead blockers Smith and Kincaid who took out several defenders and powered his way thru the last of the defense to make it to the end zone for his 2nd touchdown of the game, making the score 14-0 Wildcats.

The Wildcat defense led by Nick Bruce, Shane Penney, Dillon McCarthy, Bryan Davey and Mikey Hersom continued to hold the Arlington offense at bay throughout the end of the first half and into the second half. Then on a great run by the Arlington quarterback he was able to make it outside and down the sidelines to break up the shut out and score a late touchdown, making the score 14-6, the defense held on the extra point try.

The Spy Ponders would not go down without a fight and were able to get the ball back shortly after scoring and start driving down the field on the defense to the 40 yard line. Arlington then went to the air but it was broken up downfield when Chris Robarge made a great play to knock the ball out of the receiver's hands. Then the Spy Ponders tried to run outside but they were met by Fraser who kept them at bay, which set up the game deciding play.

The Arlington quarterback went back to pass and had pressure up the middle by Penney, Valente, and Hersom when Kelley broke through hitting the quarterback as he went to throw a pass causing the ball to go straight up in the air and intercepted by Joey Demonico who was then escorted to the end zone by Fraser, Smith and Kelley without being touched for Demonico's third touchdown of the game. And with that score the wildcats closed out its third consecutive win in a row with a great team effort by all.

The E1 Wildcats have only two games left 10/24 at Woburn, and on Halloween 10/31 at Waltham.

E2

Practice during the week for the E2 squad focused on the offensive line...and it showed Sunday vs. Woburn. Andrew Gallucci, Derek Gallucci, CJ Petrie, Ryan Martin, Andrew O'Brien and Anthony Bowker played their best game of the season.

Their effort made it possible for little Brian Gallucci to have a very big game. With the O-line clearing the way, Gallucci put on a show and ran for 164 yards and three touchdowns. Tristan Ciampa, wanting a piece of the action, heeded his coach's wishes and finally ran up the middle for a 54 yard touchdown to cap off the Wildcats scoring. Jared Russell and Quarterback Cameron Banks also ran tough, moving the ball down the field.

Not to be outdone, the defense was outstanding. Camden Kenyon had a sack and Owen Steen recovered a Woburn fumble. Alex Fiorenza, Kris Miller and Connor Paquette shut down the opponent, kept momentum on Wilmington's side, and secured the Wildcat victory, 25-6.

The E2s final game of the season is this Sunday at 9:30 in Waltham.

Mite 3's face-off against Stoneham

Saturday, October 23rd 2010, the Wilmington Mites 3 team traveled North on 38 for the second time to face-off against Stoneham's Mite 2 team. Wilmington was hoping to end a two game losing streak and had come to do battle early and often.

The game started with a flurry of shots on Wilmington's James Kourkoutas, eventually getting a puck past the Wilmington goaltender giving Stoneham a 1-0 lead. James Kourkoutas continued to stonewall Stoneham early in the second period keeping the Stoneham team at bay while allowing the Wilmington Offense to get going. Conor Peterson and Jimmy McCarron kept the puck inside the blue line giving Gina Bertolami, Gannon Ricci the chance to help Andrew Gallucci score Wilmington's first goal of the game.

Joe Cornish, Aydan Churchill and Colin Sainato kept action all over the Stoneham's side of the rink, while Cam Humphrey had relentless rushes up the ice stirring up the Stoneham defense. Just like that, Andrew Gallucci catches Stoneham on a line change and labels the bottom left corner for a 2-1 Wilmington lead.

The action in this one turned one sided as Wilmington turned up the offense from every angle. Owen White, Evan Munro and Derek Gallucci kept the pressure going, while Peter Kourkoutas had multiple rushes up the ice leading to his first goal of the game giving Wilmington a 3-1 lead by the end of the second period.

The third period continued to go Wilmington's way as Gina Bertolami was showcasing great two way hockey, back checking, causing Stoneham to scratch their heads on what to try and do next to get by Wilmington's tenacious forechecking.

Stoneham tried to take chances but they found a great wall of defense from the Wildcats. This opened up the ice early in the third to Jack Farrell, as he skated up the ice and put away his 1st of the game to give Wilmington a commanding 4-1 lead.

The action continued to go Wilmington's way as they pestered the Stoneham goaltender with shots, Cam Humphrey and Owen White had multiple shots on net, making the Stoneham goaltender earn his position. Peter Kourkoutas played shutdown defense protecting brother James Kourkoutas in net and clearing out all rebounds from the crease limiting any chance of a Stoneham comeback. Sniper Andrew Gallucci closed out the game scoring a hat trick with three seconds left on the clock, making this another great Saturday for the Wilmington Wildcats.

Exercise alone can increase serotonin, giving a sense of well being. Festival on the Common celebrates 16 years

event to take place
November 27
from 3-7 p.m.

By GORDON VINCENT

What started as a conversation at a Woburn Kiwanis Club meeting a decade and a half ago has become one of the city's signature events - the Festival on the Common.

The 16th edition of the Festival on the Common will be held this year on Saturday, Nov. 27, from 3-7 p.m., and will feature an array of activities to celebrate the beginning of the holiday season.

"It's something the whole family can look forward to," said Gary Fuller, of Malvy's Flower & Gift Shoppe in Woburn Center and the Chairman of this year's Festival on the Common committee. "And we try not to make it specific to any one group or faith. There's really something for everyone."

The genesis of the event was at the aforementioned Woburn Kiwanis Club meeting so many years ago. A group of local businessmen started reminiscing about the holidays on the common when they were young, and wondered if an organized event could be staged in this era.

"There used to be a tree-lighting and holiday lights on the common, and we all remembered how much fun that was," said David Ryan, proprietor of Colonial Liquors and a member of the Kiwanis Club who was involved in the initial organization of the Festival on the Common.

About a dozen members of the other service clubs in the city got on board and "everything kind of came together in a couple of weeks," according to Ryan.

Daily Times Chronicle photographer Joe Brown, who was another one of the original organizers, remembers the initial event, held in December, was plagued by bad weather.

"It rained just when we were getting started," said Brown, "But people showed up, and seemed to enjoy themselves. So we knew we were on to something."

After the first year, the festival was moved to the last weekend in November.

"It's been chilly but seasonable most years," said Brown.

In addition to the usual weather considerations of an outdoor event, the Festival on the Common Committee has endured other setbacks, most notably a fire about a decade ago at a storage facility off Salem Street, where the life-sized holiday figurines were stored in the off-season.

"It's one of the few (city-owned) buildings that wasn't insured," said Fuller. "So that (fire) was pretty much a total loss for us."

Thanks for support from the city and contributions from a number of local businesses, new figurines were purchased. The festival not only endured, but has grown each year, with the organizers trying to blend new activities and displays with the popular stand-by attractions.

"We try to add something new," said Fuller. "We're always looking for some new ideas."

This year, the committee has purchased some new figurines - carolers that will be placed on the common. Also returning this year is a crew from the Oldies 103.3, the Boston radio station that specializes in holiday music during the season.

Among the annual highlights are the arrival of Santa Claus on a Woburn Fire Dept. truck, which will take place this year at about 4 p.m., and the tree lighting ceremony,

WOBURN'S FESTIVAL ON THE COMMON always draws a large crowd. The event features live continuous holiday music performances from the steps of City Hall, free singing hayrides on horse-drawn wagons (left), ice sculpting demonstrations (above), roaming carolers, food courts, Woburn Fire Department Smoke Safety House and a live petting zoo for kids of all ages from Charming Faire Farm. (www.joebrownphotos.com) which usually goes off at about 5:30 p.m.

One of the traditions that has evolved is the mayor reading "A Visit from St. Nicholas" (alternately known as "The Night Before Christmas") by Clement C. Moore, just before the tree lighting.

This year, that duty will fall to Mayor Scott Galvin, who was inaugurated in

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"HEREAFTER" OFFERS NO ANSWERS

"HEREAFTER" STARS MATT DAMON and Cecile De France. Damon plays the role of a man who can communicate with the dead. It is a movie that asks questions, but doesn't offer answers. The viewer must decide.

"HEREAFTER"
GRADE: ***

Director Clint Eastwood tackles questions about what awaits us after we die, if anything, in his latest film, which stars Matt Damon as a man who can communicate with the dead.

"Hereafter" begins with a scene that is essentially a slap to the face: Marie, a French journalist (Cécile De France), vacationing with her boyfriend/boss on a tropical isle, is caught in the December 2004 Indian Ocean tsunami that killed more than 200,000 people - and one of those killed, for a few moments at least, is Marie herself. Rescuers abandon CPR efforts when she shakes back to life, vomiting sea water, while a dim vision of a ghostly light and shadowy figures remains in her head. She returns to Paris, the experience leaving her upset and trying to wrap her mind around what happened.

In San Francisco, George (Damon) agrees to do a psychic reading for a friend of his brother's, relaying messages from the man's dead wife. George was once a professional psychic making money off his very real ability to speak with the dead, but it quickly burned him out.

At the same time, in London, identical twins Marcus and Jason share a psychic bond that intensifies when Jason is killed fleeing from a bunch of bullies. He constantly wears his brother's cap, and feels his presence wherever he goes.

The three stories will eventually intersect, and with that convergence comes a vision of a possible afterlife from an 80-year-old director who is still at the top of his game.

It doesn't answer all the questions you might have, not that it should - your vision of what awaits after that final breath could be as uniquely your own as you are different from everyone around you. Rather it allows the viewers to come to their own conclusions.

"Hereafter," may leave many people scratching their heads, disappointed or likely a bit confused, but there's nothing wrong with a movie that asks questions and doesn't offer answers.

"RED"
GRADE: ***

Aging stars Bruce Willis, Morgan Freeman, Helen Mirren, and John Malkovich get together as a group of retired super agents, and the result is one of the more entertaining films to come out this year.

All four above are former CIA Black Ops agents, who are categorized as 'Retired, but Extremely Dangerous', or RED for short.

Willis stars as Frank Moses, who is bored sitting at home since giving up his action-filled day job. His daily highlight is talking with Sarah (Mary-Louise Parker), an administrative assistant in charge of his monthly retirement check, speaking from her office in Kansas City. They've never actually met, but he'd like to change that.

That happens sooner than planned when a team of killers shows up in the night to take out Frank. Of course he somehow takes them all out before going on the run. His first stop: Kansas City, where he kidnaps Sarah, explaining to her that the CIA is now out to kill him and likely her due to their constant chats the last few months.

He takes her to New Orleans, where he begins to put his old team of agents back together for one more fight.

That team includes Freeman as Joe Matheson, Malkovich as Marvin Boggs, and lastly Helen Mirren as Victoria.

The parade of fine actors continues on as Richard Dreyfuss plays a billionaire manipulator and Ernest Borgnine (that's right, Ernest Borgnine of McHale's Navy fame) makes an appearance.

Parker, Malkovich, and Willis perform so well together that it will be hard not to have a smile on your face for much of the film.

Whether old filmgoers will want to see these stars in an action movie, or if younger viewers will be able to connect to them through stunts remains to be seen, but if you give it a chance this movie is a blast.

"LIFE AS WE KNOW IT"
GRADE: **

There isn't much that's surprising about this romantic comedy - except for the fact that somehow this familiar story (an odd couple eventually falling for each other) manages to keep viewers in their seats and hooked, at least until the all-too-perfect Hollywood ending spoils everything.

The plot revolves around two single adults who become caregivers to an orphaned girl when their mutual best friends die in an accident.

The two unlikely parents are not strangers, as they went on a blind date set up by their now-deceased friends, Alison (Christina Hendricks) and her husband Peter Novak (Hayes MacArthur).

The couple thinks their best friends, Holly Berenson (Katherine Heigl) and Eric Messer (Josh Duhamel), would make a great couple, but Holly (a baker) can't stand Messer, a TV sports director and womanizer. Things don't progress any further romantically after that blind date, but they keep running into each other at Novak family gatherings and parties.

When Alison and Peter die in an automobile accident, they leave the care of their baby daughter Sophie to her two godparents - which are, of course, Holly and Messer. So, rather than have Sophie be handed over to child protective services, they move into the Novaks' home and take on the responsibility of raising a child.

But when career-centric Messer is offered a job in Arizona and Holly becomes attracted to the child's pediatrician, the script follows a typical Hollywood ending, and it's not hard to guess what happens for these two.

What helps is there is undeniable chemistry between Heigl and Duhamel, and the audience actually wants to see them end up together. Heigl has great comic timing, and this type of role is right in her wheelhouse, and Duhamel has the right blend of looks and charm to make his character appealing, despite his wolf-like ways.

"THE SOCIAL NETWORK"
GRADE: ****

What was the driving force behind the creation of a multi-billion dollar social medium that has changed the way people communicate forever?

A guy at Harvard wanted to meet women.

Facebook, as shown in the film The Social Network, was born out of a desire to date. At least, that's what the version of the story the film is sticking by. Various players in Facebook's history have claimed otherwise over the years.

Director David Fincher (Seven, Fight Club) has created a fast-paced, compelling, extremely witty interpretation of the social medium's genesis and first days, turning subject matter that could have been extremely boring onscreen into scenes filled with dialogue that the audience can't get enough of.

The story jumps from late 2003 when Mark Zuckerberg (Jesse 56th annual Woburn Lions Club Halloween Parade this Sunday at 1 p.m.

The Woburn Host Lions Club is pleased to announce that on Halloween, Sunday, October 31st at 1:00 P.M., it will host the 56th Annual Lions Halloween Parade. Starting at the Showcase Cinema parking lot, the Parade route will follow Main Street through "Central Square", down past Mishawum Road to "Downtown". The Parade then continues along Main Street down through the "South End", ending at Lake Avenue.

With this year's Parade expected to be one of the largest ever, and having an audience anticipated to exceed 80,000 spectators, all of the Lions members are busy planning and preparing for this premier community-based event. Just this week, the Parade Committee, as it does every year at this time, decided on this year's Parade theme, which is "Halloween Memories". With this in mind, the Parade Committee will notify float entrants to construct float themes depicting fond and/or scary scenes of Halloween past. Already, 30 bands and over 120 floats and groups are signed-up to participate in the Parade, with many more to follow in the coming weeks.

The cost of staging this year's Parade will exceed the $50,000.00, with most of the funding provided by local business owners and residents. It is with the continued generous support of our longtime community-based sponsors, that the Lions Club feels confident that once again this year an exciting Halloween Parade is in-store for all to enjoy.

If you would like to help support this year's Parade, please send your contribution, payable to: "The Woburn Host Lions Club Parade Fund", P.O. Box 81, Woburn, MA 01801

The Lions Club Parade Chairman, Bryan Murphy, would like all Parade-goers to know "100% of all proceeds collected from spectators along the Parade route go directly to Lions Club Charities, which range from many local charities to those that strive to eradicate human blindness throughout the world."

Bryan also stated that one of the most important mottos involving Lions Clubs International is: "Remember, the sight you help to save may be your own."

To see the Woburn Host Lions Club in action on the many charitable projects and events they help to spearhead in Woburn and throughout the region, please visit their website at www.WoburnLionsClub.org or <http://www.woburnlionsclub.org/>

NONE TOO SOON IN BURLINGTON

"After the School Committee recently voted 5-0 in support of a policy that reflects the new anti-bullying legislation that was passed last spring by the state, School Supt. Dr. Eric Conti reiterated to the board that an anti-bullying plan from the district has to be submitted to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education by Dec. 30," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Conti stated that a Student Empowerment Committee has been created and they are currently working on the anti-bullying plan by following the model that the state has provided."

"He noted that the passing of the legislation does not mean that Burlington was not taking action against bullying in the past. He referred to the fact that anti-bullying activity was already in place in Burlington, but now the board is being asked to tweak the methods a bit so the district's policy is able to meet the requirements of the statute."

"Burlington's policies towards bullying were very effective in the past," said Conti. "Now we need to make sure that the policy languages and policy practices are in line with the new legislation."

For more information, competition rules or to register visit winchestersoccer.net. You can also contact the Tournament Director at roseannlilly@vizon.net with questions.

About the Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

LOCAL HEROES IMPROVE THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE

"It was restated that the anti-bullying language comes from recommendations from the state, which released guidelines for the plan and the mandated training that goes with the legislation..."

"The superintendent alluded to the School Department having a great relationship with the Burlington Police Department, whom will play a large role in the district's bullying policy. He mentioned that currently the district has student resource officers, D.A.R.E. officers, adjustment counselors at the high school, school psychologists, guidance counselors and staff, and bus drivers who have all been or are soon to be fully trained to handle and follow the mandates of the anti-bullying legislation."

"Conti concluded by stating that the School Committee will see a draft of the plan during its November meeting and he added that the plan will be approached like a policy, meaning that there will be a first and second reading..."

NEVER TOO LATE IN TEWKSBURY

"The second annual Treats for Troops candy drive will be held on Tuesday, November 2 from 3 - 5 p.m. at all four Tewksbury elementary schools, and all week long (October 25 - November 5) at Town Hall," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

"Parents can drop off any unwanted/excess Halloween candy at any collection station and it will be delivered to Local Heroes, a non-profit organization in Wilmington that works to support local servicemen, in particular by sending care packages of donated goods. Local Heroes will package and ship the candy to overseas troops. In the spirit of giving, the collection bin at Town Hall will also accept other donated items for the troops (please refer to the list of acceptable/needed items on the Local Heroes website, mass-local-heroes.org).

"Treats for Troops started in the fall of 2009, when Tewksbury mom Kelly Wentworth was talking with friends about how they dreaded the upcoming intake of candy from Trick-or-Treating and Halloween parties..."

"...Contacting the principals of the four Tewksbury elementary schools, Kelly got approval to set up drop-off bins in each school for the excess candy. Because of the Tewksbury school food policy, a specific collection time was set for parents to drop candy into the bin at each school. And through Tewksbury's Veteran's Officer Jim Williams, Kelly was able to set up a large collection station in Town Hall..."

"For more information, please contact Kelly Wentworth at kellys3girls04@yahoo.com."

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA: Which NHL team was once called the St. Patricks? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•The Boston College field hockey team notched its 10th win this season with a close 2-1 game against New Hampshire, thanks to solid play all around from the Eagles.

After a scoreless 15 minutes, BC's COURTNEY TAVENER (JUNIOR, WINCHESTER) collected a pass from Paige Norris and put it in the back of the net to give the Eagles a 1-0 advantage.

Jacqui Moorfield upped the score 2-0 before the end of the first half with a hard shot that deflected into the goal off Wildcats' goalie Katherine Nagengast. She was assisted by Emily Kozniuk and Janna Anttil.

BC held a slight edge on shots, 8-7.

The win improves Boston College to 10-5 while New Hampshire falls to 11-5.

•Led by SENIOR FORWARD SAMMY MACY'S (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) two goals, the No. 2 UMass Lowell field hockey team (14-0) defeated the Yellow Jackets of American International College (7-6), 4-0, in non-conference action this evening on Cushing Field. With their 11th shutout of the season, they broke a pair of school records, including six consecutive shutouts and 455:28 consecutive shutout minutes.

With Northeast-10

Freshman of the Week Melanie Hopkins (Harwich, Mass.) recording her sixth consecutive shutout and 11th of the year, the River Hawks broke the school record with six consecutive shutouts (previously set at five in 2008) and consecutive shutout minutes with 455:28 (previously set at 385:28 in 2008).

Macy opened scoring in the sixth minute of play, creating her own shot by dribbling across the front of the cage and hooking it back from the left corner. Macy's 18th goal of the year put her squad up 1-0.

In the 10th minute of play, classmate Katie Enaire (Amesbury, Mass.) doubled the River Hawk lead, scoring her 16th of the year. Fellow forward Lizzy Ales (Arlington, Mass.) had the ball along the left side baseline and crossed it to Enaire who was waiting for a backdoor shot through the right corner.

Macy and Enaire struck again midway through the first half, as Enaire grabbed a rebound, tempting AIC goalkeeper Nicole Spence out of the cage. Enaire controlled the ball and found Macy's stick to sneak it behind Spence put UMass Lowell up 3-0, a lead they would hold onto through the break.

FRESHMAN RACHEL MCCARTHY (READING, MASS.) recorded her seventh goal of the year, an insurance tally, with just over five minutes remaining in the game. Sophomore Vanessa Kent (Charlton, Mass.) grabbed the rebound off a shot by Annie Hansbury (Plaistow, N.H.) on a penalty corner and snuck it to McCarthy in the corner to seal the River Hawks' 4-0 victory.

The River Hawks owned the 30-3 advantage in shots in the game, including 17-1 in the second half. They also held the 13-5 edge in penalty corners - 10-2 in the second half.

Hopkins made a clutch save at the end of the first, stopping a breakaway attempt by AIC. While Spence started the game for the Yellow Jackets and made seven stops on the night, she was relieved in the first half by Kim Steiner, who made 11 saves and allowed just one goal.

•Sophomore Kelly Walton (Nahant, Mass.) placed 108th overall to lead the UMass Lowell women's cross country team to 28th place at the New England Intercollegiate Amateur Athletic Association (NEICAAA) Cross Country Championship Saturday at Franklin Park.

UMass Lowell scored 820 points (108, 128, 165, 203, 216 - 228, 242) and placed second among Division II schools and 13th among combined Division II and III colleges. Boston College won the team title convincingly with 26 points while the University of Connecticut placed second with 116 points and Middlebury College third with 163. Maine (181) and Quinnipiac (207) rounded out the top five.

Walton ran the 5K course in 19 minutes, 21 seconds while SENIOR SARAH BONOMO (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) placed 128th in 19:33 and SOPHOMORE NICOLE SKOTZ (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) 165th in 19:59.

Sophomore Gina Butler (Dracut, Mass.) placed 203rd in 20:30 while SOPHOMORE COLLEEN KENNEDY (WILMINGTON, MASS.) took 216th in 20:40 to cap the scoring for UMass Lowell.

Senior Ivory Farren (Chelmsford, Mass.) placed 228th in 20:51 while JUNIOR MARYANN FORD (WOBURN, MASS.) placed 242nd in 21:01.

"Nicole ran a tough race and Kelly bounced back nicely from UMass Dartmouth (Sept. 18)," said UML Head Coach Gary Gardner. "I think the women, being a younger group, didn't react well from not racing in three weeks opposed to the men. But work-out-wise, we are ahead of where we were last year."

The meet drew 322 runners representing 47 colleges.

•Need some help with this week's question? It's located north of the border.

•In front of 2,501 fans for the home opener at the renovated Lawler Rink, the Merrimack hockey team tallied five second-period goals in a 7-1 victory over the University of Connecticut.

Fourteen different Warriors picked up points, including Rhett Bly (Regina, SK), who netted his first career goal, and Mike Collins (Boston, MA), Tom McCarthy (Maple Grove, MN) and Brendan Ellis (Kelowna, BC), who each tallied their first collegiate assist.

Merrimack's seven goals were the most scored under head coach Mark Dennehy and the most since a 7-1 victory over UNH on December 13, 2003.

JOE CANNATA (WAKEFIELD, MA) picked up his 18th career win, stopping 17 shots in the victory.

Featuring new chairback seats behind the home bench and a brand new student bleacher section, Lawler Arena was packed early, 634 students (nearly 40% of the student body) were in the building, cheering on their Warriors.

WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The Toronto Maple Leafs.

•ANSWER TO THIS

Festival

From S-1

January.

"That's really one of the events in the past four or five years that the kids have looked forward to," said Brown.

Some of the other popular activities include a petting zoo with live animals, usually goats, lambs and sheep, presented by Cherry Faire Farm from Candia, N.H. The hay rides around the common are also one of the more popular events.

"The hayrides are probably the number one activity," Brown said.

Another highlight is the Woburn Guild of Artists' exhibition in the basement of the First Congregational Church. The Woburn Fire Dept. will also be bringing along its safe house, a popular venue that provides valuable information.

There will be plenty of holiday-related entertainment this year. Woburn's Keith Sullivan, a guitar player and singer, will be on hand. Cub Scouts and Girl Scouts will also sing, and the Sweet Adelines from Chelmsford will also return for another year. The Woburn Host Lions Club's Men's Choir is also expected to participate.

The Woburn Boys & Girls Club and the Keystone Club also participate, and the Boy Scouts will be selling wreaths and trees. And there will be ice carvings again this year.

Of course, the organizers credit the Woburn Dept. of Public Works for their efforts to decorate the common with lights on all the trees.

Organizing the event has become a year-round effort and no small feat, according to Ryan.

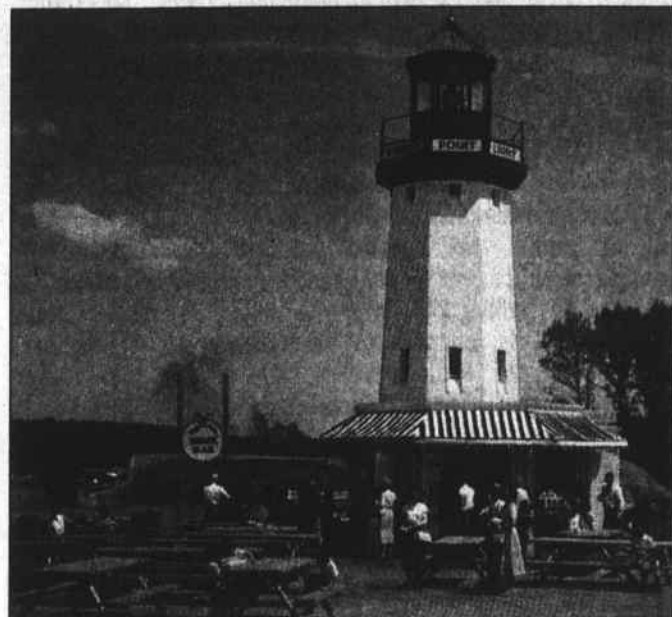

"There are close to 60-70 people on the committee now, and we start preparing for next year's festival right away," he said. "There's usually a lull around September, but after that it picks up."

"It's been a lot of fun," he added.

And thanks to the efforts of the organizers, the Festival on the Common is a lot of fun for the attendees. What started as a casual idea at a Kiwanis Club meeting has developed into one of the city's most anticipated and well-attended events.

At Longwood Place November 9

Remembering Pleasure Island

WAKEFIELD RESIDENT, ROBERT MCLAUGHLIN, author of Pleasure Island, an Images of America book, will bring the popular 1960's theme park to life on Tuesday, November 9, 2010 at 6:00 pm at Longwood Place at Reading, 75 Pearl Street. Lecture is free and open to the public. Image is of Hawkes Point Light House in Clipper Cove in Pleasure Island.

Wakefield resident, Robert McLaughlin, author of Pleasure Island, an Images of America book, will bring the popular 1960's theme park to life on Tuesday, November 9 at 6:00 pm at Longwood Place at Reading, 75 Pearl Street.

Part of the "lecture series at Longwood," a free informational series for the community, the Pleasure Island retrospective will include facts, photographs and anecdotes about the tourist attraction, once billed as Boston's answer to Disneyland.

McLaughlin, co-founder of Friends of Pleasure Island, will tell the park's fascinating story from its revolutionary conception to its ambitious construction, lively tourist years and ultimate financial collapse.

The eight-acre Pleasure Island site, now occupied by Edgewater Office Park, was home to the bustling Wakefield theme park for 11 seasons, from 1959 to 1969. In its heyday, Pleasure Island attracted throngs of tourists eager to ride Old Smoky, interact with pirates at Captain Kidd's Cove or dine at the Hood Barn.

Celebrity guests such as singer Ricky Nelson drew large crowds. Although a well-attended destination spot, Pleasure Island was expensive to operate and never generated enough revenue during the brief New England outdoor season. An entertainment enterprise ahead of its time, Pleasure Island closed in 1969.

"Our residents and staff have fond memories of Pleasure Island and look forward to Mr. McLaughlin's talk," said Longwood Executive Director Frank Petras, extending an open invitation to the community.

Audience members are encouraged to share their personal reminiscences of Pleasure Island. All attendees will be entered in a raffle for tickets to Peabody Essex Museum and dinner at a local restaurant.

Longwood Place at Reading is an assisted living community of 86 modern apartments staffed by health-care professionals dedicated to helping residents live actively and independently. Recognized by the MA Historical Society for its building preservation, the former Pearl Street School location offers modern living with historic elegance.

The flu vaccine

Protection from the flu. Peace of mind for you

As a parent, you do everything you can to protect your children. Buckle them up in the car. Watch them closely when they're in the water. Teach them to look both ways when they cross the street. Warn them not to talk to strangers.

How about making sure they get the flu vaccine? The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommend that everyone, 6 months and older get the flu vaccine every year. That includes children from tiny to teen.

Getting the flu vaccine is the best way to prevent flu. For children younger than 5 years of age and those with chronic health conditions, like asthma and diabetes, getting the flu vaccine is especially important to avoid serious flu complications like pneumonia, which can lead to hospitalization and even death. About 20,000 children younger than 5 years old are hospitalized each year from flu complications. Flu can also make some health conditions worse.

Babies younger than 6 months are too young to get the flu vaccine, but they are at higher risk for complications and death from flu. Because of this, it is important that family members and other people that care for young infants get vaccinated to help ensure that they don't transmit the infection to them. "It's important that all family members and caregivers get the flu vaccine to 'cocoon' infants," says Dr. Anne Schuchat, Assistant Surgeon

General of the U.S. Public Health Service and CDC's Director of the National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases.

The 2009 H1N1 flu (so named for the year the virus was identified) hit children particularly hard last year, and that virus is expected to be around again this year. The 2010-11 flu vaccine includes protection against the 2009 H1N1 flu virus, along with two seasonal flu viruses expected to circulate this season.

There are two kinds of flu vaccine: the flu shot and a flu nasal spray vaccine. These vaccines cannot give you the flu because they are made from killed or weakened influenza viruses. Flu vaccines have an excellent safety record. Hundreds of millions of Americans have safely gotten flu vaccines and most people generally do not experience any side effects after getting a flu vaccine. When side effects do occur, they are generally mild and include redness and soreness at the injection site for the flu shot, and occasionally sore throat, runny nose and rarely fever after the nasal spray vaccine. While these symptoms can be uncomfortable and inconvenient, these symptoms are mild and resolve quickly when compared to a bad case of the flu.

"Parents who take their children to get the flu vaccine can rest a little easier knowing they are helping to protect their family against a potentially serious illness," Dr. Schuchat said. "And of course, parents should be vaccinated, too."

Children should get the flu vaccine as soon as possible to ensure early protection for this flu season. Most children 6 months through 8 years who get the flu vaccine for the first time will need to get 2 doses of the vaccine, the second dose (booster dose) 4 weeks after the first. Healthy children ages 2 and older can get the nasal-spray vaccine instead of a flu shot. Talk to your child's doctor or nurse if you're not sure. Once vaccinated, the body needs two weeks to produce antibodies for protection against the flu. The vaccine does not provide protection against non-flu viruses that can cause colds and other respiratory illnesses.

Check with your doctor, pharmacist, or local health clinic about getting you and your child vaccinated from flu.

For more information about the dangers of flu and the benefits of the flu vaccine, talk to your doctor or nurse, visit www.flu.gov, or call CDC at 1800CDCINFO (8002324636) while more windows and a glass door offer views of the landscape behind the house.

No matter where you are in the kitchen, you can keep tabs on activities inside and out. Corner windows in front of the sink allow you to look out over the street. Working at the counters or range, you can observe and interact with family or friends in the dining room or living room. The eating bar also serves to keep folks who just want to chat out of the way of the cooks.

The Lander's dining room has a built-in hutch and buffet. In the living room, a direct-vent gas fireplace provides warmth and color. Alternately, the home could be built with a fireplace that burns wood and has a chimney. Bookcases are on one side and a home entertainment center is on the other.

Owners' suite amenities include a deep walk-in closet and a private bathroom with double vanity. Laundry appliances are nearby in a utility room outfitted with plenty of cupboard space, shelves and a handy counter for folding clothes and linens.

If a home office is needed, the front bedroom is an excellent location.

Bright open spaces distinguish the Lander

The Lander is a midsize ranch home with a window-bright cluster of large, open gathering spaces filling the entire left side. Designed for construction on land that slopes to the left and rear, this single-level plan can easily be adapted for construction on a flat lot as well.

Entering, you step into a vaulted entry which opens into a vaulted dining room and living room. A wide bay window expands the sense of spaciousness in the dining room,
